IRS: Nixon Must Pay Back Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has agreed to pay back income taxes of $432,787.13 plus interest that could push the total to $465,000, the White House announced Wednesday night.

The announcement said the Internal Revenue Service had ruled Nixon owed the taxes on income during his White House years, and that the President ordered full payment with interest.

Word of that decision came hours after the staff of a joint congressional committee recommended that Nixon pay $476,431 in back taxes and interest for the years 1969 through 1972.

A White House source said the IRS had told Nixon there was no suggestion of fraud, civil or criminal, in the assessment for back taxes.

Officials said that on virtually every challenged tax item, the IRS findings and those of the staff of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation were in agreement.

They said the different tax amounts stemmed from differences in calculations.

The congressional staff report was made public by 9 to 1 vote of the joint committee. The panel adjourned Wednesday without deciding whether to adopt formally the findings of its staff. It is to meet again Thursday, but White House word that Nixon will pay back taxes seemed to make its deliberations moot.

A White House official said Nixon's payment of the back tax bill would wipe out much of his personal wealth. The President's net worth as of May 31, 1973, was $988,522, according to figures made public by the White House in December.

The IRS had announced it was auditing Nixon's taxes, while the joint committee had them under study at the request of the President.

A major item at issue had been Nixon's tax deductions for the donation of his vice presidential papers, appraised at $576,000, to the government. He had deducted $482,018 of that sum. Both the committee and the IRS agreed that he was not entitled to the deductions.

The White House said Nixon received word Tuesday of the Internal Revenue Service decision.

The White House said Nixon believed his lawyers could have made a very strong case against major conclusions of the staff report.

"However, at the time the President voluntarily requested the committee to conduct its examination of his tax returns, he stated that he would abide by the committee's judgment," the statement said. "In view of the fact that the staff report indicates that the proper amount to be paid must be determined by the Internal Revenue Service, he has today instructed payment of the $432,787.13 set forth by the Internal Revenue Service, plus interest."

Nixon's disclosed cash assets totaled $432,874 as of last May 31.

The White House did not say how he will pay the tax bill.

WASHINGTON: Newsmen push and grab for copies of the Joint Congressional Committee report of President Nixon's taxes when it was released Wednesday. The Committee, after investigating the President's taxes for 1969 through 1972, concluded that he and Mrs. Nixon owe the Government at least $476,431 in back taxes and interest. The IRS later put Nixon's tax liability at $432,787.13 plus interest. (UPI Telephoto)

Foresee No Change In French Policies

PARIS (AP) — The French people will vote for a new president to succeed Georges Pompidou on April 28 or May 5, but diplomatic analysts regard any change in basic French positions to be unlikely.

The possible candidates to succeed Pompidou, who died Tuesday, will wait until after the president's burial on Thursday before making any political statements. But analysts said they could foresee no substantial movement away from the stance that has driven a wedge between France and the United States and created major problems within the European Common Market.

"If the Gaullists stay in power, as is likely," said one expert, "there might be a change in tone, in nuance, but no loosening of the idea that France must keep its distance from the United States and Atlantic cooperation. National independence is the key word among the parties of the majority. Of course, if the left were to win, the whole situation would be turned upside down."

The French Cabinet was to meet Friday to decide the election date which must come at least 20 days and not more than 35 days after the presidency becomes vacant. If no candidate receives an absolute majority in the first balloting, a runoff election must be held two Sundays later. These would fall on May 12 or 19.

In Washington, White House sources said it was highly likely that President Nixon would be among the world statesmen attending. There was still no official statement on the cause of Pompidou's death at 62, but presidential palace sources said he had a cancer of the nervous system and was aware of the gravity of the disease.

But all open political activity was held in abeyance until after the burial.

A private religious ceremony in the parish church around the corner from the Ile St. Louis apartment where Pompidou died was scheduled for Thursday morning. Burial was to be later Thursday in a cemetery near Pompidou's weekend home at Orville, 35 miles southwest of Paris. A national religious ceremony to be attended by foreign chiefs of state and government was set for Saturday at Notre Dame Cathedral.

SAN FRANCISCO: Patricia Hearst said in a stunning tape recorded broadcast Wednesday that she had joined the Symbionese Liberation Army and had chosen to remain with the terrorist band that kidnapped her 58 days ago. The tape recording and this photo of Patricia were sent to a Berkeley radio station. A family lawyer, William Coblentz, identified the picture as being Patricia and her mother said it was her daughter's voice on the tape. (UPI Telephoto)

Chapin Defense Rests Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight L. Chapin, denying anew that he lied to a federal grand jury, told his perjury trial Wednesday,

"I had no reason to withhold any answers."

Chapin, the last of three defense witnesses, testified, however, he tried to keep from the grand jury the fact that H. R. Halde- man, the former White House chief of staff, had approved the activities of political prankster Donald H. Segretti.

The 33-year-old former appointments secretary to President Nixon is charged in three counts with making false statements when he testified last April before the grand jury.

A fourth count—that he lied in saying he didn't know how much Segretti was paid—was dismissed by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell after the prosecution rested its case.

The defense rested in late afternoon, but only after prosecutors had won from Chapin an admission that he had misstated facts to the FBI in two interviews. Chapin admitted that he had received some of Segretti's fake literature in the mail.

"If I had been concerned that Segretti was going to do something that was embarrassing to the President of the United States he would not have been out there," Chapin said of the man he recruited to sabotage Democratic campaigns.

Chapin also said that the President "never in any way was aware of Mr. Segretti's activities."

Gesell said that closing arguments would be Thursday and that the case can go to the jury by noon.

Each count against Chapin carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Assistant Special Prosecutor Richard J. Davis asked Chapin why he

Tornadoes Rip South, Midwest

By The Associated Press
Tornadoes struck eight states in the Midwest and South Wednesday night, then swirled across into Canada. More than 100 people were killed.

Hundreds of injuries also were reported as the twisters, striking with wild abandon, hit parts of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Michigan, Georgia and Canada's Ontario Province. Damage was in the millions.

Half the town of Xenia, Ohio, a community of 25,000 people, was destroyed, according to the county sheriff.

Authorities gave this breakdown of fatalities: Kentucky, 36 deaths; Indiana, 23; Ohio, 20; Illinois, 2; Alabama, 7; Tennessee, 2; Georgia, 5; Michigan, 1; and Windsor, Ontario, 8.

At least eight persons were killed, 12 missing and at least 25 injured in Windsor, Ontario, where a tornado ripped off the roof of the local curling rink.

The National Weather Service had been issuing tornado warnings for hours before the twisters set down, but in many areas such messages are considered. (Turn to Page 6)

Mitchell, Stans

Defense Denied Dismissal Rule

NEW YORK (AP) — The government rested its criminal case against John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans Wednesday and the defense charged that the case against the former Cabinet officers was a spinoff from the Watergate scandal.

Mitchell, the former attorney general, and Stans, onetime commerce secretary, are charged with conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury. They are accused of impeding a massive Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco in return for the latter's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

In midtrial motions for dismissal of the criminal charges against Mitchell and Stans, the defense said it had received voluminous transcripts of grand jury testimony by prosecution trial witnesses that it had not had access to before.

In reference to this material, the defense claimed:

"The clear implication and thrust of the questioning was that Vesco's contribution was requested in cash in order to finance the Watergate break-in and other recently disclosed political activity."

"Indeed, it is not too much to say from a review of these various transcripts (Turn to Page 6)

'I Have Changed . . . Become Conscious'

Patty Hearst Will Stay With SLA!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst, the newspaper heiress who was dragged screaming from her apartment two months ago, renounced her family on Wednesday and declared she was joining her terrorist kidnappers as a revolutionary.

"I have changed — grown. I've become conscious and can never go back to the life we led before," said the tape-recorded voice identified by her parents as that of the 20-year-old Patricia, whose life had been held against demands for millions of dollars of free food for the poor.

The sudden declaration, one day after a sign that her release by the mysterious Symbionese Liberation Army appeared imminent, left Patricia's parents stunned and disbelieving.

"Personally, I don't believe it," newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst said after hearing the tape. "We've had her 20 years, they've had her 60 days, and I don't believe she's going to change her philosophy that quickly or that radically."

"If it is her choice to become a member of an organization like this, we still love her," he added. Hearst's wife, Catherine, agreed, telling newsmen outside the family's home near here: "I know my daughter very well. I know my girl. She would never join any organization like that without being coerced."

The couple, whose life for the past eight weeks had shifted from desperation to often-expressed hope, spoke only those words, answering no questions from the cluster of newsmen gathered in front of their home. Their brief statements were carried live by local television stations.

On the tape, which also carried death threats by the SLA against three so-called "enemies of the people," Miss Hearst said she was speaking her own mind and had chosen to "stay and fight." Her freedom, therefore, became no longer a matter of negotiation, according to an SLA leader who also spoke on the recording and said she could leave at any time she wanted.

The SLA voice indicated as well that the abduction of Patricia Hearst would be the group's last kidnapping. "In the future no prisoners of the ruling class or its executive agents will be taken prisoner," he said. "The Court of the People this date issues the following order: All corporate enemies of the people will be shot on sight at any time and at any place."

The revelations of the 20-minute tape recording left authorities perplexed.

"If she now is saying she was never taken against her will, then you don't have a crime," U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said.

The FBI agent in charge of the case, Charles Bates, said he did not know whether Patricia was staying of her own free will. "I don't feel it makes any difference in our investigation," he said.

The taped message was delivered to a San Francisco radio station one day after another "communique" that promised details of Miss Hearst's release would be provided within 72 hours. That message had signaled an apparent end to the two-month Hearst family

Big Special Interest Funds

Anyone who blandly assumes that the Watergate mess has put a crimp in political fund raising by special interest groups must re-examine his assumptions. Figures compiled by Common Cause suggest that such groups are at least as active as ever, and that they may spend more this year than in the 1972 campaign.

Fred Wertheimer, director of the Common Cause Campaign Finance Monitoring Project, goes further than this. "The failure of this Congress to pass effective campaign-finance reform legislation," he said at a news conference, "has meant that the 1974 congressional races are going to see far more giving by special interest groups than showed up in 1972."

We do not draw from this the inference, though Wertheimer may intend it, that all political giving by special interest groups is a bad thing. Under present law, however, the danger of abuses grows along with the sums contributed. One must consider in this light the fact that more than 14 million dollars in cash for the 1974 congressional elections already is on hand in special interest committees.

The politically naive may have supposed that the months of intensive spotlighting of 1972 campaign financing scandals would drastically reduce political fund raising by such groups. If anything, the contrary has occurred. The Common Cause report makes it more evident than ever that reform legislation is needed.

Ford's Whack at CREEP

Vice President Ford's sizzling remarks about the infamous Committee for the Re-election of the President are of interest for more than one reason. In condemning this "arrogant, elite guard of political adolescents" he carried an important step further the process of seeking to divorce the regular Republican party organization from CREEP's 1972 excesses. At the same time, deliberately or not, he improved his chances for the 1976 nomination he purports not to desire.

Ford said things his audience of a thousand Midwest Republicans clearly wanted to hear. He played variations on the theme, heard more and more among the GOP leadership, that the party cannot fairly be blamed for the wrongdoing of those who "ran roughshod over the seasoned political judgment and experience of the regular Republican party organization in the 50 states."

This has a bearing on next fall's congressional elections. But the vice president's censure of CREEP — indeed, his very use of that derogatory acronym — has the longer-range effect of placing him firmly in the camp of the regular party managers now looking to the presidential race two years hence. Which conceivably is just what he had in mind.

Communication

To the Editor:

The following article was in a recent issue of the St. Louis Globe Democrat. It probably did not get wide readership here and I am submitting it because it gives a view of the president that should bear some thought by all of us.

By CLIVE LAWRENCE

Globe-Democrat-Christian Science Monitor News Service
MONTREAL, N.C. — Evangelist Billy Graham says: "I sense in Mr. Nixon a great deal of growth. You know all this (Watergate) tends to deepen a man, to strengthen his character."

"It took the agonies of the Civil War in which they cried for the impeachment of Lincoln to make him the great character, the great man, that he was."

Graham said Mr. Nixon will become a "great President if he can get Watergate out of his system."

Graham expressed the hope that Watergate does not become a "political football. The times are too dangerous and the issues are too great," he said. "We need a strong leader right now."

It was his opinion that the country should get Watergate "clarified and out of the way and voted on — and let the President be president. Or let Mr. Ford take over and be the President."

He reflected awhile as the midday sun poured through his office window here in the small mountain village of Montreat, then said, "But I don't think Mr. Ford wants it because it's an overwhelming responsibility."

Because of what Mr. Nixon has been through with Watergate, Graham believes he "will be a more humble President, and a more open President, far more in touch with the people than he would have been otherwise..." Dr. Graham bases this judgment because there are about 30 to 40 percent of the people pretty loyal to Nixon and they are going to resent any Republican voting against him.

Asked if he was confident that Mr. Nixon would "come through" the Watergate experience, he replied, "Well, I don't know. Politics is going to be the big thing."

"I don't think they have any legal ground for impeachment. I think if he is impeached it will be on political grounds. It will mean the Republicans feel that Watergate is too much for them to carry into the '74 elections."

"But the congressmen that vote against him, in my judgment, are going to be in trouble because there are about 30 to 40 percent of the people pretty loyal to Nixon and they are going to resent any Republican voting against him."

"So any Republican congressman is going to face it both ways. He's really on the spot."

Although a Democrat, Graham voted for Mr. Nixon in the last presidential elections. He did so because he thought Mr. Nixon "was the best man." He has known Mr. Nixon personally for some 20 years.

Asked if he "hoped" Mr. Nixon would come through Watergate, he answered, "I don't think he has. I haven't seen any evidence of it yet. And I hope he comes through, yes."

As I said, I think he'll become a much greater president."

Impact Of Youth Service Bureaus Weighed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Back in 1967, the President's Commission on Law Enforcement recommended creation of neighborhood youth service bureaus to help steer young people away from crime and help rehabilitate those who strayed.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare subsequently reported in a 1972 study that 155 such bureaus were receiving federal money and that in nine out of 10 cases it came from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA).

Now the General Accounting Office (GAO), which acts as a fiscal watchdog for Congress, has made a study of three youth bureaus to see if LEAA got its money's worth. It concluded that the lack of uniform standards made it impossible to say whether the concept has been successful.

But an optimist, at least, might find grounds for hope.

The GAO examined the Youth Eastside Services in Bellevue, Wash.; the Youth Services Bureau in Portland, Ore., and the Project Youth Opportunity in St. Louis.

The bureaus coordinate community youth services, provide services not otherwise available and try to persuade law enforcement agencies to refer young delinquents to the bureaus rather than prosecute them in juvenile court.

The Bellevue youth bureau, which received $286,922 in the three years ending in June, 1973, had 10 staff members and about 150 volunteers. Working out of an old house, they operated a 24-hour crisis phone, job and counseling centers, a foster care program, parent education programs, and a "flying squad" to provide on-the-scene help to youthful drug users and others. About 20 per cent of the young people using the bureau had committed serious crimes.

While lacking overall guidelines to measure Bellevue's performance, GAO said indications were it "may have had a positive impact." In the two years, starting in 1970, when the project got its first grant, juvenile arrests dropped to 27 per cent of all arrests compared with 34 per cent in the previous four years.

It said this was even more significant than bare figures would indicate because the city's juvenile population steadily increased compared with the adult population between 1965 and 1972.

In Portland, GAO found, the youth bureau there served 623 youths over a 13-month period, of whom 179 "had had some contact with the court." Further checks showed that 26 of these got into trouble, again, or less than 4 per cent of the total youths served.

GAO said it was hard to determine if contact with the bureau kept the number that small. But it conceded "the project may well be having a positive impact."

The St. Louis study showed that 52 of 1,624 youths contacted by the bureau there over a two-year period later wound up in juvenile court while 109 had been in trouble before and did not repeat.

A consultant who made a random study of 125 of the youths found that 36 believed the center had influenced them to stay out of trouble, 40 didn't know whether they had been helped, 15 thought they had not been helped, 20 said they didn't really participate and 14 didn't answer.

GAO concluded it lacked sufficient data to say whether the government was getting a fair return on its money. But who can say whether it might not have cost the government even more if the youths who went straight had become hardened criminals and wound up with long prison terms?

ried "as soon as they could clear up a few details."

Ann Landers:

Meaningful Words For Stammering Tongues

Dear Ann Landers: People recent letter about the who become tongue-tied in the presence of grief and blurt out something stupid prompts me to write my first letter to Ann Landers.

I worked at a college during World War II. Over 200 of our boys were killed in action. I knew at least 100 of those young men well enough that I felt impelled to write to their parents, most of whom I had never met.

As I wrote the letters, I discovered the magic formula. Recite a personal incident, some small thing the boy said or did that showed him to be kind, considerate, and thoughtful. Here's an example: "It was only a year ago, at the end of a long, hard day, that your Jim noticed how tired I looked. He quietly stayed behind to help me put away the books and close the library."

The responses to my letters were wonderful. I knew I had touched a great many hearts. Perhaps this letter will put some meaningful words into stammering tongues. — Elsie

Dear Elsie: Of course, you found the magic formula. An intimate touch, something personal that you alone could have told those parents about their son. No flowery phrases could mean as much as the reporting of a little incident that showed their Jim to be a special person.

Dear Ann Landers: You must be out of your mind to make the statement, "A solid marriage cannot be destroyed by a third person." It's happening to my sister at this very moment and it's killing her. Theirs was the perfect marriage. That girl did everything, including shine the guy's shoes. She was a completely devoted wife until some cheap sexpot in his office came along and made him feel like he was 21 again. I'm sure the male menopause had something to do with it. Change your advice, Ann. You are wrong, wrong, wrong. — Sick at Heart

Dear S.A.H.: Sorry, but no one knows what a marriage is like except the two people in it. Outward appearances can be very deceiving. Sometimes the ones that look the best are the worst.

Dear Ann Landers: Some time ago you printed a letter from a couple (she in her 60s, he in his 70s) who had fallen in love and were having a wonderful time — laughing at their own foibles and reveling in the fact that at their age they could have so much fun together. They were going to be mar-

All the guilty pleaders (and their number may soon rise considerably) stand in proof that an enormous, many-faceted plan to undercut the Democrats in 1972 did exist and was implemented. They are a contingent whose court testimony not only gravely threatens the accused who choose to fight, but clearly menaces Mr. Nixon himself. Every follow-on indictment, every new guilty plea, every Republican reversal at the ballot box, builds the mountain of likely impeachment higher and makes it harder for Mr. Nixon to climb.

Proposed Health Plan

Public Hearing Set April 18

On April 18th the Comprehensive State Health Planning Agency will hold a public hearing on that agency's proposed plan for health facilities for the counties of Adams, Brown, Calhoun, Cass, Christian, Greene, Hancock, Jersey, Logan, Macoupin, Mason, Menard, Montgomery, Morgan, Pike, Sangamon, Schuyler, and Scott. The hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Illinois Power Building in Jacksonville.

Dr. Mark Lepper, Director of CSHPA, announced that several such hearings are being held throughout the State. "CSHPA is mandated to have a State-wide plan for the delivery of health services. The purpose of these hearings is to present the proposed Illinois Plan for hospitals and nursing homes to both consumers and providers of health services," Lepper said. "All residents should have an opportunity to comment on the pros and cons of the proposed Plan. If Illinois residents feel that what is proposed needs to be changed, this is their opportunity to express their opinions," he continued. Dr. Lepper and other CSHPA staff members will be at the hearing to present the proposed Plan.

Persons wishing to make oral or written presentations at the hearing are asked to so notify the CSHPA at least two days prior to the hearing. Such notices should be sent to the Comprehensive State Health Planning Agency, 525 West Jefferson, Springfield, Illinois 62706. Time limits for presentations will be set at the hearing depending on the number of persons to be heard.

The proposed Plan is available to review at all county health departments. In addition, individual copies will be provided upon request to the CSHPA.

School Board Candidates Meeting Set

Candidates for the board of education of School District 117 will speak and answer questions at a public meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 at Armstrong Junior High School. The Morgan County League of Women Voters, sponsor of the event, invited all interested voters to attend.

Each candidate will make a short talk and then will be asked to respond to questions prepared by the League. The audience then will have an opportunity to put questions to the group or to individual candidates. "Such meetings provide a unique meeting place for voters and candidates because the League is non-partisan," Mrs. Jerome Lubber, president of the local LWV, said. "Our only purpose is to provide information with which voters may make their own decisions."

Mrs. Lubber will serve as moderator, assisted by Mrs. Joe Patterson Smith and Miss Louise Sheppard. Mrs. Marshall Robinson, voters service chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

The four candidates for two vacancies on the board of education are Cecil Franseen, Dr. James Green, Bill Ricks, and Thomas McKula. The election will be Saturday, April 13.

The League invites all interested women of voting age to attend meetings and to become members. The League operates at local, state, and national levels to promote informed citizen participation in government. It is non-partisan; the League never supports or opposes candidates, but does take positions on issues which members have studied.

Further information may be obtained from the membership chairman, Mrs. Fred Post (243-4126).

Camera Angles

by IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

One of my pet themes is that photography gets maximum mileage when it is shared with others. And that can be done only by showing our best pictures, not by burying them in an envelope, box or drawer. And one of the best ways to show your favorite photos is to have them suitably enlarged and framed for home decoration.

Fortunately, modern decor says it is fashionable to hang a large number of pictures throughout the house. They are not only decorative, they add individualism and give a home a distinctive personality. At the same time, care must be exercised in arranging appropriate groupings according to the room for which they are intended and the color scheme and furniture it contains. But there is no bar to unusual, creative or imaginative arrangements with which photos are framed, displayed or hung.

To start with, it's generally agreed that all pictures look better when properly matted and framed. A group of photos — even though individually different in subject matter — may be unified by similar matting and framing. The color and choice of mats, frames and shapes of photographs can be influential factors in the appearance of any room. They can be tasteful, dignified, wild, exciting or "way out."

Hanging photos should not be an impulsive, hit-or-miss action... unless you like battle-scarred walls. It's far better to study wall spaces and furniture arrangement and plan picture groupings to suit them. If possible, get a large sheet of plain wrapping paper the size of the wall area to test various picture arrangements. With the paper on the floor, check different groupings of the framed photos until a suitable layout is found. Trace the exact position of the frames on the paper and determine where the hooks belong. Position the paper on the wall, punch marks for the hooks and you'll be able to hang the photos with certainty instead of by gosh and by guess.

Speaking of imaginative arrangements in which photos can be hung reminds me of author Wayne Floyd's offbeat grouping of pairs of photographs. His formula for imparting new life to a tired old wall might impart a novel touch to a rumpus or game room or den. He calls them comic wall plaques.

They consist of pairs of photographs carefully planned and posed for by members of the family. The two separate pictures should have some connection, physical or visual, of a whimsical or imaginative nature.

For instance, picture two separate framed photos on a wall, one about a foot above the other. The man of the house is seen in the upper photo kneeling on the bottom edge of the picture frame with one hand dangling a string of yarn. The lower photo shows the family cat stretched on its back with front paws reaching for the string.

The startling gimmick, however, is that the string is real colored yarn which hangs down and connects the two photos!

In addition, the figure of the man in the upper photo has been mounted on hardboard backing and then cut out with a jig saw as a silhouette figure. It is attached to the picture frame so that the knees rest on the bottom edge and the man's hand and feet extend beyond the side edges, giving a three-dimensional, optical effect.

In variations of this effect, the child of the house might be photographed sitting on the bottom edge of the frame, with outstretched hand holding a real balloon, a pennant, a small kite, etc.

I saw another example of Floyd's two-picture situations that can be personalized by photo fans in their own homes: Visualize two photo frames on a wall about two feet apart. In the left hand frame Father is seen (in three-quarter side view) with hands in the traditional position of holding yarn. His back rests against the left edge of the frame. Mother, in the right hand picture frame (also nearly profile view), faces Father and she is seen winding a ball of yarn.

Here again, the gimmick is that the yarn is real and it reaches from hubby's hands in front of the frame, across the wall to wifey's hand in the other frame.

And again, some variations come to mind. How about a fisherman in one picture frame and his catch in the other with a fishing line connecting both? Or, for a bigger gag, how about an out-size photo enlargement of the fish as a visual whooper to go with the fish story? Or, for a touch of realism, why not a real mounted fish trophy in one of the frames?

To get back to decorative and more serious home displays of good photos, a series or set of small color prints could make a personal picture mobile.

The mobile picture unit can be squares, rectangles or circles that are suspended on short lengths of strong thread from various horizontal supports, which can be made from wire clothes hangers. Each picture unit is made of two photos that match in size and shape, pasted back-to-back with one end of the thread inserted between them first.

Photo mobiles can be simple or complex, put together by children or designed by adults. The end result, however, like the other ideas for using personal photos in home decoration, serves a practical purpose. It brings photographs out of hiding places so they can be seen, shared and appreciated.

Sheriff To Be Book Subject

By MORT ROSENBLUM

EL BOLSON, Argentine (AP) — Martin Sheffield, Texas sheriff, sighter of dinosaurs, pursuer of Butch Cassidy, gold panner, crackshot, crackpot and general legend about town, may soon pass into immortality.

The Argentine journalist who found his body and cornered his rifle is writing a biography of the transplanted yanqui who, as the story goes, mistook kerosene for whisky at age 72 and passed on.

By what few converging accounts remain, the story goes like this:

Sheffield came to Argentina with six other lawmen, apparently hired by Pinkerton, after Butch Cassidy, the Sundance Kid and their lady knocked off the bank of London and South America in Rio Gallegos.

The movie put the Cassidy gang in Bolivia but, in fact, they came to the southern Argentine region of Patagonia after the famous Turkey Creek, New Mexico, shootout at the turn of the century.

Argentine army men captured the Cassidy trio and shipped them to Buenos Aires, according to memories, and Sheffield got a reward for finding and fingering them. He, like some of his fellow riders, stayed.

"He was a great man, known and respected everywhere he went," says 68-year-old Dodo Sheffield, one of the 12 children Martin had with his Araucanian Indian wife.

"He was not exactly the wonderful person that his son describes," recalled an old-timer in this Andean valley town around which Sheffield spent some three decades until his death in the early 1930s.

But all agree he was hard to believe.

Sheriff Sheffield, a huge tin star on his chest, went to dances and shot the heels off ladies' shoes. He could de-wing a fly with a bull-whip and part a man's hair with a Bowie knife from 50 paces.

He settled barroom fights by shooting home-rolled cigarettes out of his opponent's mouth. He was an Indian scout with chiefs for friends.

The Argentine journalist, Francisco Juarez de Siete Dias magazine, says that he has 10,000 Sheffield stories which he is saving for his book. He has been collecting material for 11 years.

But Sheffield's prize feat was discovering a dinosaur in the Epuyen lagoon near the creek he named "Klondike," where he panned for gold. In 1922 he sent a telegram to Buenos Aires, 1,100 miles away by horse and railroad, saying something like: "Dinosaur. Send commission."

A group soon showed up, headed by the famed surveyor Emilio Frey and the Buenos Aires zoo director Clemente Onelli. They spent a month searching for the beast, at night with lights and in the day with sticks.

Sheffield helped things along from time to time by making dinosaur footprints with a barrel. Finally, when things got sticky he disappeared into Chile just in case someone thought of jailing him for fraud.

When the situation cooled, Sheffield admitted it was a hoax, and he said he did it to publicize the neglected south of Argentina. That ended that for everyone but his son, Dodo, who runs a small restaurant here and still believes in the dinosaur.

Sheffield did a little of everything here. He raised cattle, rode in the private army of a rich rancher, washed up a few nuggets of gold and did some farming.

Juarez said he was from a wealthy Texas family and once a brother came down to try — unsuccessfully — to get him to come home.

His taste for booze and women was widely known and he never slowed down. Dodo said he was still partying all night and breaking horses the next morning while in his 70s.

Sheffield was found dead by his gold lode, and those steeped in his lore say he grabbed a bottle of kerosene and drank it in a seizure of delirium tremens. No one can really say for sure.

Juarez discovered Sheffield's body buried near his gold-panning camp, and he had it transferred to the El Bolson cemetery under a respectful headstone.

On The House

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

"Use the proper adhesive for the job" is a bit of advice that has come down through the ages ever since someone discovered that certain materials could be used for bonding things together.

It was advice that could be followed easily for centuries. Even as relatively recently as 50 years ago, there were only a handful of choices from which to make a selection. But there is such a multiplicity of adhesives on the market today, not to mention an increasing number of synthetic products which occasionally require mending, that selecting "the proper adhesive for the job" can sometimes be confusing.

So-called all-purpose adhesives are seldom that. But many of the synthetics can accurately be called many-purposed; that is, they handle nearly all the bonding jobs that occur around the house. Even so, such adhesives generally work better on some types of projects than others. The following list will be helpful in making choices, but it does not necessarily include all the uses of such adhesives.

White glue or polyvinyl: Excellent for paper, cardboard, leather, wood and most porous materials. Not waterproof.

Clear cement — Good on paper, cardboard, wood and leather. Excellent for glass and ceramics on which there will not be heavy stress.

Contact cement — Bends instantly without the use of clamps. Perfect for bonding plastic laminates to wood. Can also be used on wood-to-wood, cloth, leather, ceramics and most metals.

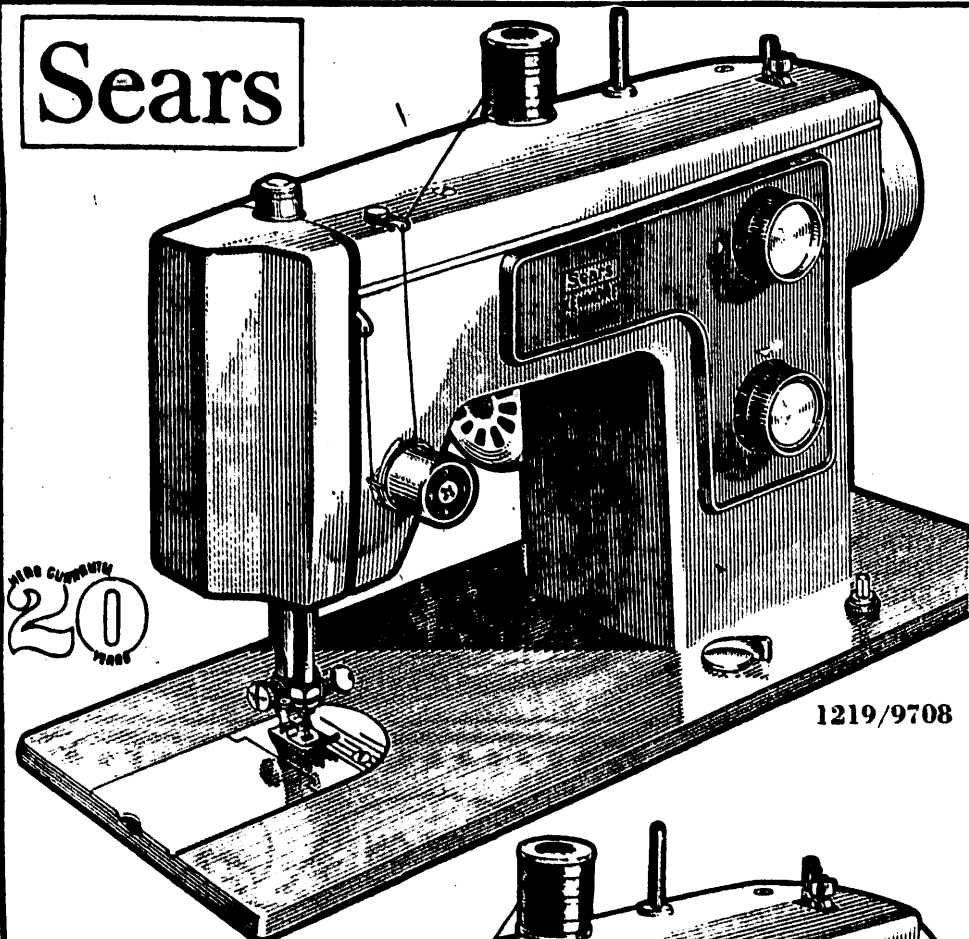

Epoxy — Makes extra strong joints. Can be used on anything but soft plastics and natural rubber. Resists heat and water. Wood glues — There are numerous glues intended for use mainly on wood. Many of these are in powder form to be mixed either with water or some other liquid; some are pre-mixed. All produce very strong joints, but because of differences in characteristics, the labels on their containers should be read carefully to determine whether they are suitable for your intended use. An important factor is recognition that water-resistant glue means exactly that, but waterproof glue is the type to be used outdoors.

There are many other adhesives, including silicone sealants, vegetable derivatives and those with rubber and latex bases.

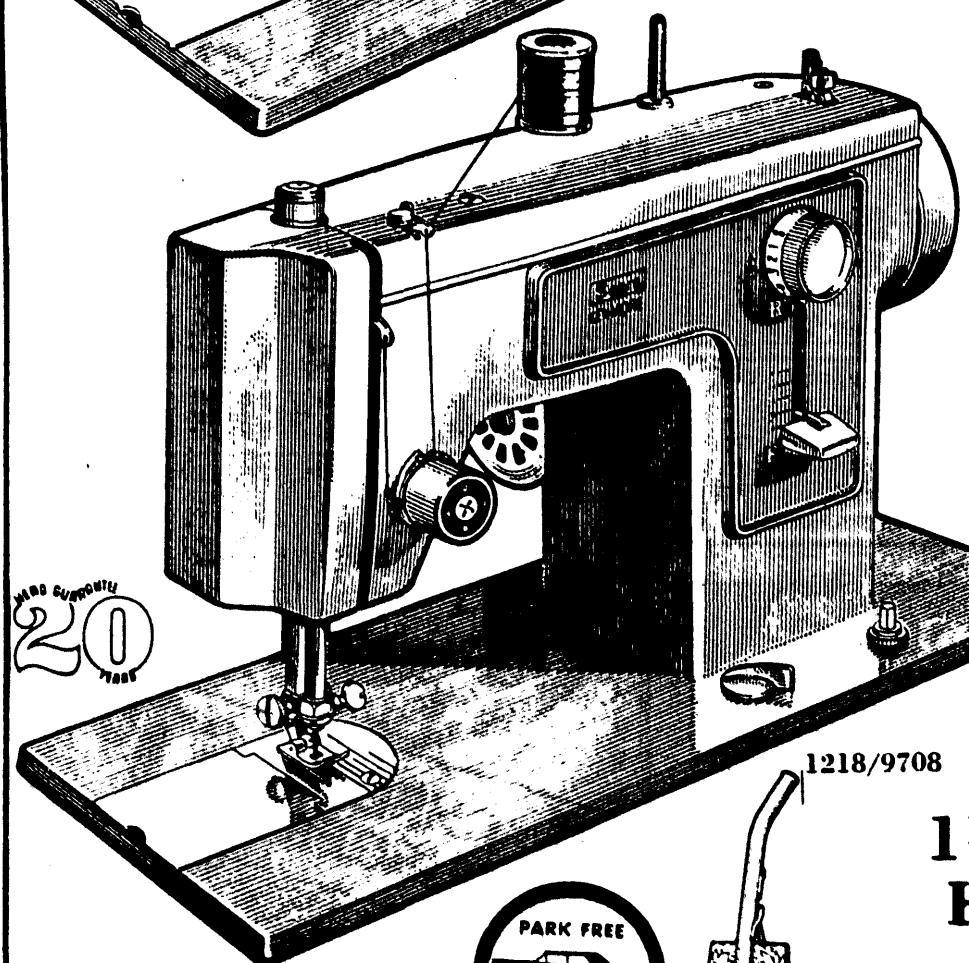

Whichever adhesive you choose, you won't get the best out of it unless the surfaces to be bonded are cleaned thoroughly.

Volunteers Organize To Aid Sick

MANCHESTER, Conn. (AP)—A severely crippled young mother cannot care for her 2-year-old son alone.

A disabled, elderly couple needs help keeping house.

A sick, 80-year-old widow lives by herself without friends or family nearby.

Each of these people needs a friend, companion, nurse, cook, housekeeper, and they get it through the Manchester Homemaker Service Inc., a nonprofit agency.

"There are a lot of old, lonely and sick people in this area," said Mrs. Hyalie Hurwitz, director of the service, which tries to keep families together during stressful periods and reduce institutionalization of the sick and elderly.

She said the need to remain in one's own home despite failing health or family crisis is strong.

"They'll do anything not to surrender their precious independence," she said.

"Many, especially the elderly, feel that going to a hospital or nursing home means the end," she said.

Even though the volunteer homemakers provide only a few hours of help each week, the recipients are grateful.

"We're so much a part of their lives," said Pam Broderick, of Manchester, a homemaker health aide for a year. She said her job had deepened her understanding of the ill and increased her affection for the elderly. She also said she couldn't help becoming attached to patients despite a detachment the homemakers are supposed to maintain.

Pam's first case involved a mother who was recovering from an emotional breakdown.

"The kids all had scarlet fever and the house was upside down," she recalled.

Oran Hiltz, a blind diabetic amputee, has been a client of the homemaker service for almost 10 years. He is visited twice a week for three hours by Janet Rice. She arrives at 9 a.m., does Hiltz's shopping, laundry and housekeeping, prepares his lunch and gives him physical therapy on his leg. She leaves at noon.

The 25 women on the agency's staff range in age from 20 to 72. The most important qualities, according to Mrs. Hurwitz, are compassion and understanding.

The women are trained by the state Health Department in a 35-hour program which includes domestic services and nursing care. Subsequently they complete 160 hours of training and receive state certification.

The homemakers also receive 4 or 5 additional training sessions on diabetes, multiple sclerosis, heart disease, arthritis and cancer, the illnesses seen most commonly in their patients.

They are able to cover cases "at the drop of a hat," said Mrs. Hurwitz. The agency has expanded to service South Windsor, Bolton, Ellington, Vernon, Tolland and Somers, in addition to Manchester.

Funded by United Way, the service charges fees based on the patient's income. Fees can be charged to medicare or another health insurance plan.

Mrs. Hurwitz said the program is not just for the poor, but is for anyone who needs a little help from a "good neighbor."

Computer May Bring Faster Matching Of Fingerprints

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—If you are a crook and your fingerprints are on file anywhere you are soon going to have to start running faster if one of the latest uses of the computer becomes popular with law enforcement agencies.

A method being worked on at Purdue University has the potential of matching fingerprints within minutes, where it now takes hours or even days.

Prof. King-Sun Fu, an international authority on pattern recognition by computer and a professor of electrical engineering at Purdue, said "we have not put the system in practice yet and the intent of my research is to show the feasibility of this method, not to set up a complete system."

He and Bijan Moayer, a graduate student in electrical engineering, have been taking what is called a "linguistic" approach to fingerprint identification—they are working on a system to enable computers to recognize prints by the types of lines in it.

Fingerprint "Language"

For example, the English language is made up of 26 letters using four basic strokes—horizontal, vertical, diagonal and curved lines, Fu explained. Fu's approach to print recognition is based on the fact that prints generally fall into one of seven major classifications depending on the combinations of features making up the print. These features include plain arches, tented arches, radial loops, ulnar loops, plain whorls, central pocket loops and double loops. Plus which, Fu said, there is an eighth classification called "accidental."

"Fingerprints normally can be matched by showing they are first in one of the seven major classes, then in one of the 39 subclasses, then the same as the individual," he said. "By our approach, we are not really going to store each print in the computer, but we are able to describe the fingerprint to such an extent that the computer can tell you where in your records you would have it filed, if you do."

Fu said the approach was similar to that of techniques used by law enforcement agencies to make a composite, picture of a suspect based on descriptions given by witnesses.

Pictorial Processing

Actually, Fu said, pictorial information processing has been done for several years, but under present methods involves an enormous amount of data and requires a massive memory capacity, particularly if an agency has something like the 17-million fingerprints on file with the FBI.

Under existing methods, there is usually a high degree of redundancy in pictorial data and this, with the massive memory capacity, means the data processing system used is very sophisticated and expensive.

Fu said the method he is working on at first digitizes the fingerprint by placing it under a grid of 256 sampling squares each containing 12 by 12 binary bits. He added that to avoid storing unnecessary information, the boundaries of the pattern outside the grid are eliminated, since the essential information of the fingerprint pattern is located on the ball of the finger, not toward the edges.

Fu said the approach has met with good early results. On the first level of classification, the system has proven correct 100 percent of the time, with similar results for second level classification. He said the approach had attracted some attention from law enforcement personnel, primarily because it would enable them to get nearly immediate service on most fingerprints they were trying to match or identify.

The late Walter F. Wyman of Boston was a great whist player who used to write delightful articles on the play of the cards. Some of his hands were really ingenious. While he always gave some New England player credit for them, we have a feeling that most of them were developed in Walter's fertile mind.

Walter was South, playing a four-spade, doubled contract. He ruffed the second heart and led his king of spades. It held and when he led a second spade West showed out. East won and forced Walter with another heart.

"Things had taken a nasty turn for the worse, but Walter was undaunted. He saw a play for his contract if West held three clubs to the queen and East exactly three diamonds to the king.

So Walter led his eight of clubs. His plan was to finesse dummy's jack; take a diamond finesse; overtake his king of clubs with dummy's ace; take a second diamond finesse and wind up losing just two trump tricks and one heart.

The play would work in real life, but this time it failed miserably.

It seems that Harry Stubbs of Arlington who sat West had visualized what Walter was up to and threw a monkey wrench into the machinery by playing his queen of clubs on Walter's eight.

It Walter and Harry are still playing in that Valhalla where good players go, more power to them.

Agents: Percy Pressured Justice Dept. For Probe

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy said Wednesday that the acquittal of federal narcotics agents who mistakenly raided several homes in Southern Illinois "must not give impetus to any future actions which would violate constitutional rights."

The agents said after their acquittal Tuesday of 42 charges of civil rights violations that Percy had pressured the Justice Department into seeking indictments.

Chapin

left blanks in two paragraphs of a chronology of his activity that he left with former presidential counsel John W. Dean on March 1, 1973, when Chapin left the White House for a job with United Air Lines.

One of those paragraphs begins: "Gordon Strachan brought the subject to the attention of ——— and (Herbert) Kalmbach at a White House meeting. It was approved for Segretti to be hired."

The blank space, Chapin said, referred to Haldeman. Later in the memorandum there is a reference to checks by G. Gordon Liddy of an agent in the field and Strachan "checked two people" about it.

The reference, Chapin said, was to Halde- man and John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general. "Why did you leave them blank?" asked Chapin's attorney, Jacob A. Stein.

"I didn't want to involve Halde- man," Chapin said he was reluctant still to involve Halde- man when he appeared before the grand jury on April 11, 1973.

Dean was followed by the prosecution's last witness, FBI agent Angelo Lano who told about three interviews he had with Chapin last year and early this year.

The defense put on two witnesses ahead of Chapin to testify about his character — Nellie L. Yates, a White House secretary since 1954 and John C. Whitaker, undersecretary of interior.

The defense claims that Chapin was so busy in late 1971 and early 1972, while Segretti was conducting his pranks against Democratic candidates that he had little opportunity to follow Segretti's activities.

One charged that Percy used the raids to promote his "presidential ambitions" and all 10 acquitted agents said they were angry because they were not invited, along with the raid victims, to testify at hearings Percy conducted into the raids last spring.

Percy said in a statement released by his Washington office that he was informed by the Drug Abuse Law Enforcement office that the agents would not be permitted to testify because of the pending grand jury investigation.

Percy said that he brought the raids to the attention of then Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson who agreed a grand jury should be convened.

Percy, who was campaigning Wednesday for a Republican congressional candidate in Michigan, also said the raids were "not a proud moment in law enforcement history."

Also in Washington, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said the acquittals will not set back efforts to prevent a recurrence of mistaken raids and improper tactics.

He added, "We don't like those kinds of incidents. I'm sure there will be inadvertent cases but we're going to try and keep them at a minimum."

Kenneth Bloemker, one of the seven federal agents accused in the 12-count indictment, said Percy "jumped on the bandwagon" of public outcry against the raids because "he has presidential ambitions."

Other defendants said that if Percy had obtained their side of the story, no indictments would have been returned.

They said they were instructed by their superiors not to comment on the raids but Percy never asked for confirmation of that policy or for an exception which they think would have been made.

David Schippers, a defense attorney, said, "I'm convinced that it was from pressure from Sen. Percy and perhaps others that caused the civil rights division to come and get an indictment no matter what they had to do."

Schippers said Percy "wants to be President of the United States and he doesn't know enough to listen to both sides. He condemned them without having half the information."

Bloemker said, "I think we were indicted maliciously."

Schippers said, "It was a railroad job. They were railroaded."

Michael Hillebrand, another federal agent and defendant, said, "I think we were scapegoats."

The defendants, seven federal officers and three St. Louis policemen, were working for DALE during the raids which capped a seven-month cocaine trafficking investigation that netted more than $1 million in narcotics and five convictions of drug peddlers.

No arrests, however, resulted directly from the raids and twice, the agents admit, they kicked in the doors of the wrong homes. In three of the raids, civil suits seeking $6 million in damages are pending against the government and the agents.

Rivers

Now, some 4-Rivers personnel resent or appear unhappy with the differential as it now stands.

Most districts outside 117 pay a slightly higher rate, or the same, as all other teachers in their respective districts for special education services. The salary set by the council is "advisory" upon the other districts and not a requirement.

Sansom said it was "up in the air" in the hypothetical case of 4-Rivers staff who belonged to JEA in District 117 and were confronted by a teacher strike in Jacksonville. He said it wasn't clear whether the personnel of 4-Rivers would serve all district except 117 or none.

Most delegates admitted that salary adjustments would be necessary but were unwilling to name a "suitable" figure which would meet with their individual approval.

Some members complained that the time element made it difficult to solicit reaction or feedback from fellow members of the member boards of education and suggested that the meeting notices and proposed agenda be mailed about two weeks in advance for that purpose.

One superintendent in attendance commented, "If I vote for a 14 percent raise... I'm in trouble."

A proposal for mileage reimbursement was also referred to committee for suggestions.

Director Robert Leach reported that the educational specifications are currently being drawn for the master building plan. He said a building complex of about 20,000 square feet and costing about $600,000. Mr. Leach explained that when the specifications are complete, he would present them to the architect. The final decision on space requirements would be a decision for the council when data on cost and size are completed.

Assessments of fees for all districts other than District 117 is currently $13.232 per pupil and in District 117 it is $10.486. The difference is that 117 provides their own psychological services.

The council usually meets four times per year. The next session was set for May 22 at the 4-Rivers administrative offices.

that the prosecutors in New York were attempting to prove that very fact."

The implication was that after failing to link the Vesco cash directly to Watergate, the government settled for its current case against Mitchell and Stans.

Mitchell and Stans testified before the Watergate Senate hearings and Mitchell has been indicted in connection with the cover-up of the break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

In pretrial arguments, the defense vainly sought to have the charges dismissed or the trial transferred on grounds that Watergate could not but prejudice the jury against the two defendants.

"Watergate is not a part of this case," ruled Judge Lee Gagliardi at the time. The question of Water-

Two Enter Pleas In Federal Court

SPRINGFIELD — Elvin E. "Hawk" Hughes of Rock Island, President of Teamsters Local 371, President of Illinois Conference of Teamsters, President of Joint Council 65 of Teamsters and General Organizer for the International Union of Teamsters, has been arraigned in United States District Court before Judge Harlington Wood, Jr., and entered a plea of not guilty to all charges contained in two separate indictments returned against him by the Federal Grand Jury on March 29, 1974.

The indictments were the results of an intensive two-year investigation conducted by the Internal Revenue Service, the Department of Labor, and attorneys of the St. Louis Organized Crime Strike Force. United States Attorney Donald B. Mackay of the Southern District of Illinois stated that Hughes was named in three counts of conspiracy and in three counts of soliciting kickbacks from suppliers of services to the union welfare funds and he faces a maximum sentence of 24 years in prison and a $60,000 fine. Warren W. Jacoby, an East Peoria Insurance Broker and President of Jacoby General Services, Inc., Springfield, Illinois, entered a plea of not guilty to all counts charged against him in three separate indictments returned by the Federal Grand Jury on March 29, 1974.

United States Attorney Mackay and Leon C. Green, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service for Central and Southern Illinois, stated that one of the charges against Jacoby was that he failed to file Federal income tax returns for the years 1968, 1969 and 1970 and trial on these charges has been set by the court for July 15.

Jacoby is also charged with three counts of conspiracy and receiving kickbacks from suppliers of services to union welfare funds and could face a maximum sentence of 27 years in prison and a $90,000 fine.

Harris Rowe, Richard Y. Rowe, Jr., George Saal, and Harold L. Gangnath, who were also named in the indictments returned by the Federal Grand Jury on March 29, will be arraigned at a later date.

Deaths Believed Murder-Suicide

City detectives investigating the deaths of a man and woman found dead in an auto early Monday believe they were the result of murder-suicide.

Police said they believe retired Carmi policeman George J. Hawkins took the life of Helen M. Pranger before he shot himself to death.

Mrs. Pranger, 64, of Route 2, Murrayville, and Hawkins, 75, of 608 W. Beecher were found dead in the front seat of the woman's car in front of Hawkins' residence.

Results of an autopsy, according to Coroner Don Lowe, indicated Mrs. Pranger had a bullet wound above her right ear and a second wound on her left side above the rib cage. Police said they believed Hawkins shot Mrs. Pranger twice and then shot himself above the right ear. A .22 caliber pistol was found inside the car in Hawkins' lap.

gate was raised in one of three defense dismissal motions. These were to be argued Thursday in an afternoon court session without the jury.

The nine men and three women are not due back in court until Friday morning, when the defense is scheduled to open its case, if it loses its bid for dismissal. Such midtrial dismissal motions are seldom successful.

It was 12:40 p.m. EDT when Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wing announced: "The government rests."

Hawkins was identified as a former police officer of Carmi, who has been living in Jacksonville for the last 12 years.

Police have apparently closed their investigation of the case. At least one note was left behind by the dead couple but police refused to comment on its content.

dered routine. In most cases, entire communities were caught unaware by the storms.

"You wouldn't believe what this town looks like. We are begging for all kinds of medical assistance, manpower and other assistance," said a police broadcast in Xenia.

Tales of horror filtered in from other areas in the storm belt, which was for the most part without communication. "There have been bodies in fields and everything else, people with injuries," said a report from Harrison County, Indiana.

Some states issued immediate calls of their National Guard forces. The tornadoes struck cities of all sizes, familiar urban areas such as Louisville, Ky., and Cincinnati, Ohio, and small communities which to most Americans are only names on a road map.

Brandenburg, a town 50 miles from Louisville, was left in shambles and authorities reported 13 deaths. Depauw, an Indiana community of 500 was leveled; business ordear during which $2 million in free food was given away and another $4 million pledged to secure the young woman's release.

Patricia's 18-year-old sister Ann arrived at the family home in suburban Hillsborough moments after the tape was delivered. "I know Patty far too well to think she'd come around like that. She only hears one side of the story... I don't believe it. She's too bull-headed."

But on the tape, the latest in a series of suddenly delivered communications from the terrorist group, Patricia said: "I have learned how vicious the pig really is, and our comrades are teaching me to attack with even greater viciousness..."

Thomas O'Hare, program director of KSN, the station to which the message was sent, said the envelope contained the tape, a typed transcript, a color photograph and a thin slip of paper which said the other half of Patricia's driver's license was included. But the document, the other half of which was received Tuesday, was not included.

The photograph showed Miss Hearst holding an automatic rifle and standing in front of a banner bearing the seven-headed cobra symbol of the SLA.

The man who identified himself as Cinque, SLA General Field Marshal, said in the tape recording: "There is no further need to discuss the release of the prisoner, since she is now a comrade and has been accepted into the ranks of the peoples' army as a comrade and fighter. And there is no further basis for negotiations since the subject may leave whenever she feels that she wishes to do so, and she is armed and perfectly willing and able to defend herself."

Taxes

The White House statement added:

"It should be noted that the report by the Internal Revenue Service rebuts any suggestion of fraud on the part of the President. The committee's staff report offers no facts which would support any such charge."

"Any errors which may have been made in the preparation of the President's returns were made by those to whom he delegated the responsibility for preparing his returns and were made without his knowledge and without his approval."

A White House official said the Internal Revenue Service had told the President that $140,080.97 of the back taxes were for 1969, and did not have to be paid because the statute of limitations for that year has expired.

But the official said Nixon will pay the money anyhow.

Administration sources said the IRS ruling charged to Nixon as taxable income some funds spent by the government, mostly in the name of security, for improvements at his estates in San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla.

In addition, Nixon's claims of business deductions for official use of those properties were denied.

The IRS also ruled that Nixon owed capital gains taxes on sale of land at San Clemente, on the sale of his New York apartment, and on a Florida land transaction which he had said represented a joint investment with his daughter, Tricia Nixon Cox. She had earlier reported for tax purposes her share of the gain on that transaction.

On each of those points, the IRS and the congressional staff findings were in accord.

The committee staff and the tax agency also agreed that Nixon should pay taxes on the value of air travel by members of his family on military planes. The committee staff said Nixon should pay taxes on $27,000 worth of such flights.

The controversy arose after it was disclosed that Nixon had paid taxes totaling less than $6,000 for 1970, 1971 and 1972. The President made public his financial status and tax returns in December.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Handbills on cars are merely litter

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Our family disagrees about where the cherished pictures of relatives should be hung. The others say in a bedroom or den but I believe they should go in the living room where everyone can see our loved ones. My question is which room is used for that customarily. Everyone can do what pleases him, but I would like some answers on what the etiquette is, if any, of the subject. — BETTY F.

DEAR POLLY — Our Pet Peeve is with those businesses and organizations who place advertisements on car windshields, back of the wipers. They usually end up littering the streets and parking lots. In winter they often freeze to the windshield and are hard to remove. Such advertising should be done in the papers and magazines. — BARBARA

DEAR POLLY — Marlyne wrote that she wanted to remove tar from a suede belt and I had the same problem with a purse and dipped a toothbrush in a little vinegar, brushed it into the suede, left it overnight until dry and then brushed it again. I hope this works as well for her. — PEGGY B.

DEAR GIRLS and Marlyne — Test the effect of the vinegar first. Many authorities suggest scraping as much of the tar off as possible, when the material is dry cleanable. Then sponge with a cleaning fluid. This process, or any other, may have to be repeated. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To brighten the surroundings for the youngster who sleeps in the bottom bunk bed firmly fasten a piece of heavy cardboard or pressed wood to the underside of the upper bunk. Let the child decorate his own "ceiling" as he likes with wallpaper or magazine cutouts, drawings, etc. — KENNETH

DEAR POLLY — Your column is a favorite of mine and my husband also reads it and often calls my attention to a suggestion he thinks might help me. We have four small boys so need shortcuts.

When I buy or make a pair of knit slacks or shorts with a tunnel-type waistband that has elastic run through it, after the elastic is in place I stitch, with matching color thread, a seam up and down the width of the band in the front, back and on each side. The seams usually blend right into the knit and they keep the elastic from twisting inside the band. They also keep the waistband from turning over while wearing the slacks and they keep the gathered fabric evenly spaced on the waistband. — MARION

DR LAWRENCE E. LAMB

At age 82 his fingers numb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column wherever I may be and enjoy it very much. I am an over-the-road live stock truck driver and have worked at hard manual labor from the age of 16. I'm now 82. I still drive a truck and break horses to ride in my leisure time. I'm bothered very much with my fingers going to sleep. Daytime they aren't as bad, but at night they get very stiff regardless of how I lie. I would appreciate it very much if you could tell me as I have seen several good doctors, and they have been unable to help me. Recently, I read an article of yours, about the hands falling asleep, and it described my case very well. I have been a patient in three different veterans hospitals.

DEAR READER — You are remarkable. At age 82 you are still a very active man, and your biggest complaint is numbness in your hands. I really do wish I could help you.

It is almost impossible to tell why a person has these symptoms without a careful examination. Usually these problems are caused by pressure on the nerves or circulation to the arms. The pressure can be from muscles or tendons, an extra rib, or even from arthritic changes in the neck. To define whether it is pressure on nerves or blood vessels requires some special tests.

There is the possibility that your hand stiffness is a manifestation of some arthritic changes. This wouldn't be unusual. About the only thing I can suggest to you is to try to keep your hands warm. At night you might wear some gloves to bed and see if that helps to keep them from getting stiff.

I would hope, though, that the next time you have the opportunity that you would have an examination by a neurologist or an orthopedic specialist, and possibly by a cardiologist. Should you be in the V.A. hospital again, ask for consultation with these specialists.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your article on duodenal ulcers. I have been on a strict ulcer diet for seven months.

It would be easier to stick to the diet if it would be explained what reaction drinking colas has on an ulcer (or on the body). Even after seven months I have cravings for a cola. Could you please explain?

DEAR READER — The problem is caffeine. It is a drug, and one of its actions is to stimulate the stomach to produce a great deal more acid pepsin juice. It is the acid pepsin juice that leads to the formation of ulcers, and the amount must be controlled by medication or neutralized by alkalinizing medicines.

Caffeine is found in colas, coffee, tea and chocolate. All of these should be forbidden to anyone who has an ulcer or has hyperacidity problems. Some people can tolerate the decaffeinated products, but this has to be evaluated on an individual basis. The flavor oils are irritating to the digestive system of some people.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

For the past 100 years the Universal Postal Union has been proving that an international agency can be successful in working for the betterment of all nations. In celebration of this centenary, numerous countries have been issuing commemorative stamps and the United Nations has joined the philatelic bandwagon with a new 10-cent stamp in blue, gold, green and red.

The design of the new adhesive, by Arne Johnson of Norway, features a post-horn encircling the world, jubilantly heralding the 100th birthday of the UPU. Four marginal inscriptions appear on each pane, two on the left and two on the right. Depicted are the United Nations' seal and the dates "1874-1974." The denomination, 10-cents in the lower left corner, separates the words "United Nations" and "Universal Postal Union."

Coinciding with this stamp issuance by the U.N. Postal Administration is its fifth in a series of souvenir cards. It reproduces three UPU centenary stamps as well as four other U.N. stamps previously issued for the UPU and includes a brief statement by Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

The UPU centennial stamps and first-day covers may be purchased directly from the United Nations Postal Administration, P.O. Box 5900, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017. Souvenir cards cost $1 each. Requests must be in money order or certified check.

Another beautiful cover commemorating the UPU centennial is available in limited quantities from the International Stamp Collectors Society. The central design is a map of the world framed in the olive branches of the United Nations. Stemming from the map are eight illustrations depicting various methods of mail delivery used during the past century. It includes a runner carrying the mail, an early locomotive, a zeppelin, a sailing ship, a mail truck, a pony express rider and a rocket.

One of the three new covers in the set honors Montgomery Blair who, when Postmaster General of the United States, helped to found the UPU in 1874. On this cover is a large reproduction of the U.S. Montgomery Blair 15-cent airmail stamp issued in 1968.

The set of three costs $3.50 and can be purchased from: UPU Covers, International Stamp Collectors Society, P.O. Box 48806, Los Angeles, Calif. 90048.

Once postponed due to the war in the Middle East, the Jerusalem Stamp Exhibit — featuring 3,000 frames on all three floors of the Binyane Ha'oma Convention Center — is now in progress. According to the Israel Philatelic Agency in America, the exhibition is under the sponsorship of the President of Israel, Zalman Shazar. Many prominent American philatelists have been involved in the planning of the elaborate event.

Special Jerusalem '73 souvenir sheets containing a reproduction of the first Israeli stamp are being issued for the occasion and will be available at your local dealer.

The 1974 edition of the Harris US-BNA Catalog, the price list and market guide for stamps of the United States, U.S. Possessions, United Nations and Canada and its provinces, is now available. This 216-page edition reflects today's extraordinary market conditions with more than 5,300 price changes — one of the most extensive revisions in the publication's 45-year history. Still priced at $1, it can be obtained at your local stamp dealer or ordered postpaid from H.E. Harris & Co. Inc., Boston, Mass. 02117.

Jackson Speaks

At Beardstown

Jaycee Breakfast

BEARDSTOWN — The annual Mayors Prayer Breakfast, sponsored by the Jaycees at the Methodist church here Saturday morning, was highlighted by an address by LeeRoy Jackson, Jr., of Jacksonville, who won the Jaycees Speak-Up contest national championship in 1970.

Mr. Jackson, described as a dynamic speaker, won high praise not only for his powerful delivery but for the content of his inspiring address on the subject "Happiness Is."

Gary Moore of the Beardstown Jaycees was chairman and sole member of the arrangements committee and said there were 55 attending, including mayors and county ministers.

Mr. Moore welcomed those attending following the invocation and President Don McCausland of the Beardstown Jaycees introduced the guests. Mayor Robert Summey of Beardstown also spoke, as did the Rev. William Browning of the local Methodist church.

Myron Thompson and Earl Thompson of the Methodist Men's club had charge of preparing and serving the meal and Chairman Moore said he had plenty of help in planning the affair, ticket sales and other work by volunteers.

Beardstown has sponsored the breakfast the past two years, Moore said, and previously it has been held in Virginia.

The speaker, Mr. Jackson, was given high praise by those attending, and Jaycee members found particular inspiration since they regard him as a "product" of one of their principal projects — the JC Speak-Up.

Beardstown members also were proud that their state president, Bob Sturgeon of Crystal Lake, Illinois, and Bill Kayma from Springfield, the state membership chairman, also attended.

Scuba Diver Says Sea Happy Hunting Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The sea is a happy hunting ground for lovers, says Judy Gail May, scuba diver-photographer. She met her own husband through diving and recommends the possibility to husband-seekers.

She says there are about a half million male divers to about 30,000 women. In addition, the sport provides other thrills — treasure hunting, fish lore, scenic wonders and underwater hobbies, Judy says. She wrote a book, "Scuba Diver's Guide to Underwater Ventures," describing some of them.

There are also serious contributions to be made to science, she points out, in marine biology, geology and even underwater construction.

Judy had not gone diving with her husband the day they met at Devil's Lake, Wis. She was diving with another partner. So was he. But they surfaced together and that was the beginning of a romance.

"If you learn to love scuba, it is almost essential that you marry a diver. It is a consuming hobby, and it is also important to have someone who knows about the sport. In emergencies when air is low, we do buddy breathing, passing the regulator back and forth. You can't always get out of a cave or shipwreck right away when equipment malfunctions," she explained.

Too, it is imperative to be with someone when you get stuck or involved with an ornery fish, she says. A husband will come to the rescue. Once she became entangled with fishing lines that were hanging over a shipwreck the two were exploring. "No matter which way I turned, I became more enmeshed," she recalled. Another time she was attacked by a barracuda.

"Sharks I like. Most are really shy, and you must swim fast if you want to photograph them. But barracudas are another kind of fish. Wounded by someone's spear, one charged at me like a mad dog, shaking his head vigorously and grinding his teeth. We had to swim backward toward the boat making aggressive motions all the way whenever he tried to lunge at us.

"But diving is safe, if you are careful and have a partner," she insists. "I've had more accidents on land than in the water. I fell off a motorbike in Bermuda and another time a horse fell on me when I was riding in Jamaica."

Six years ago, Judy couldn't even swim. She took swimming and diving lessons at the Chicago "Y" and "soon became a fish," she recalls. She had always been afraid of water but eventually became an instructor. Now she works for a public relations firm.

"There are times when you feel apprehensive, for example, if you are going into a new shipwreck. But once below, you feel great," she said.

She and her husband dived over a shipwreck being raised by the Smithsonian Institution, which permits volunteers to sign up to dive and trains them in underwater archeology, all for the price of a nice vacation, Judy says.

As for treasures, their own consist of a six-foot tree of coral, hundreds of beautiful shells, a German escape pack and bottles of Irish ginger ale. The antique bottles are worth about $50, she says.

Since their marriage over three years ago, Judy and her husband have dived off the coast of Honduras, the Bahamas, Florida, Texas and in all the Great Lakes, as well as in the Gulf of Mexico and off the coast of Maine and Block Island where there is a shipwreck of the German U-853 from World War II.

Her book explains basics of scuba and goes on to her own hobby — underwater photography and the equipment necessary for it, and advice on diving for treasure, identifying fish and collecting fish tank specimens including sea flowers and live coral. She also writes about tricky diving under ice.

Four hours in 54 degree water and came out warm as toast," she says.

Town, Country Art Show Here Next Month

The Morgan-Scott Town and Country Art Show committee met recently to plan the 1974 Art Show.

The Town and Country Art Show is for all amateurs in this area and is limited to original work done in the past year. There are three classes: Class I — 12 years of age or under; Class II — 13 years to 17 years of age; and Class III — Adults — 18 years and older. A special class this year will be for the local show only to permit art teachers and others to exhibit. Entries are due April 19 in the Morgan County Extension Office.

The art show will be held at the Strawn Art Gallery April 26, 27, and 28. All entries will be hung and Tom Kovac, University of Illinois, will be the jurist and critique the show Friday evening "to 9 for the exhibiting artists."

Entry blanks are available at the Extension Offices in Winchester and Jacksonville, Strawn Art Gallery and the Jacksonville Art Center.

The committee is LaBelle Merriman, Ruth Sayre, Pat Frost, Lela Fairfield, Lin Beeley, Eileen Coultas, Tom Walker, Johanna Bruns, Eloise J. Tholen, Tom Lashmett, Jan Lurtz and George Trull.

Baseball Season Opens Long Grind

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

With Henry Aaron's big bat aimed at baseball history, the 1974 season opens in Cincinnati and Texas Thursday.

But Aaron, swinging for his record 714th home run, may not be in Atlanta's lineup when the Braves take the field against the Cincinnati Reds in the National League opener.

The American League season opens with Oakland's defending world champions at Texas for a night game against the Rangers.

Braves. And Billingham is perfectly aware of what will happen when and if Aaron steps to the plate.

"Everybody in the place is going to give him a standing ovation when he comes up to bat," the Reds' pitcher said. "My stomach is probably going to turn over a couple of times and I'll swallow hard. Then I'll have to get down to business."

The A's and Rangers will get down to business a few hours later and when they do, the Texas club will be operating with a new set of owners. Bob Short sold 90 per cent of the team for $10 million to a Fort Worth syndicate headed by industrialist Brad Corbett.

Texas will start Jim Bibby, who pitched a no-hitter against the A's last year. Oakland counters with 20-game winner Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

Perry Has Four On Pike County Basketball Team

The fifteen-member Pike County All-Conference Basketball Team has been selected by a vote of the Conference's coaches and players.

Perry High School placed four players — all seniors — on the select squad — Greg Witham, John Mountain, Doug Elledge, and Rich Curfman. Witham was also a member of the 72-73 All-Conference squad and Mountain was also selected to the 71-72 All-Conference group as a sophomore but did not play basketball last year because of an injury.

Pappas Only Latest Caught In Cleaning

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran pitcher Milt Pappas, given his unconditional release, is the latest victim of a Chicago Cub housecleaning which has swept out nine stalwarts since the end of the 1973 National League season.

Pappas, just one victory shy of winning 100 NL victories after winning 110 in the American League, was turned loose Tuesday after it appeared he had a chance to open his 17th major league campaign.

there it gets shaky. CALIFORNIA: Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer will match any mound duo, but Angels have a bunch of guys named Joe after that.

MINNESOTA: Too old. TEXAS: Too young.

By BUFORD GREEN Sports Editor HERE ARE PICKS NOBODY WANTED

Comes the time when all brave sportswriters offer up their annual Major League Baseball predictions, with the hopes that: 1. Don't bet the mortgage on what follows, and 2. Throw this away immediately after reading so that we won't be embarrassed in October.

Unlike last year when a players strike threatened the actual season itself, this year's prognostications are complicated by the wholesale changes in personnel, the over-attention on Henry Aaron's home run chase and the seemingly constant aging of the game's stars.

This is the way it looks from here:
National League East
PITTSBURGH: Pirates shouldn't have lost last year and proved it by sticking the blame with manager Bill Virdon. With additional pitching help, particularly Ken Brett from Phillies, the Bucs still have over-abundance of power, speed and fielding. On paper, still has perhaps the best starting eight of all.

NEW YORK: Perhaps weakest starting eight around, but after that Mets get tough. Seaver and Koosman are 40 automatic victories, and another 50 "miracle wins" put Mets right up there.

MONTREAL: After being in contention right up to the final week last year on the wing of Mike Marshall, Expos have lost relief ace but gained Willie Davis. Expos have some bright young starts, ala Ken Singleton, but would appear to be year or two and Mike Marshall away from presenting Canada with first American title.

ST. LOUIS: Brock, Torre, Simmons can still contend with best, but after that the Tysons and Riecks have yet to prove themselves starters on a contending team. Pitching depends on aging Bob Gibson and plane load from Boston. Oh, yes, put Reggie Smith in first category.

CHICAGO: That old second-place gang of mine now scattered, with Billy Williams the only remaining mainstay. The end of one era may mark the start of another. Cubbies working their way back up to role of contender again.

PHILADELPHIA: Phillies, even with 20-plus from Steve Carlton, still loaded with promising youngsters. If they forget they are in Philadelphia, team could start to jell and crowd two or three teams in front of them.

National League West
LOS ANGELES: Walter Alston won with pitching for many years, and still has it plus Mike Marshall. The good, young players of last year, such as Bill Russell, Joe Ferguson and Dave Lopes, as well as Jim Wynn, are now older, good performers. Dodgers could start new dynasty this year.

CINCINNATI: Red still as good as last year, but Dodgers better. Pitching still the stumbling block, but who can argue with Bench, Perez and Rose? Shortstop still a potential weakness.

SAN FRANCISCO: Team of future, possibly. Bonds, Matthews and Maddox perhaps best outfield anywhere, with Chris Speier top shortstop. Pitching stale past 20-game winner Ron Bryant.

HOUSTON: Just enough power in May, Rader, Cedeno, Watson and May (Milt) to be a contender. Pitching up and down, with some of best arms around, topped by Don Wilson.

ATLANTA: Same old story. . . some power and outstanding individuals, such as Aaron, Garr, Baker and Johnson, but pitching makes team score in double figures to win. Braves will get attention only until Hank passes 714.

SAN DIEGO: Instead of going to future lift from depths via youngsters, Padres shifted to likes of McCovey, Tolan, Beckert and Alou, to go with Colbert. What pitching available traded away.

American League East
BOSTON: Juan Marichal, Reggie Cleveland, Rick Wise, Luis Tiant across the front, with Yaz, Petrocelli and Fisk add up to best Bosox club in years. Any team that can release Luis Aparicio and Orlando Cepeda has to be strong.

NEW YORK: Yanks on road back to glory days, but year away. Munson, Blomberg, Murcer formidable trio, with Stottlemyre and Lyle mound mainstays. Bill Virdon at helm may also help.

BALTIMORE: Dynasty slipping, with likes of Brooks Robinson, Tommy Davis and Mike Cuellar well along the downhill path. Orioles still have some superstars, such as Blair and Palmer.

MILWAUKEE: Another of the good, young teams, but good, young players often become just young down the stretch. You can't win a pennant banking on the likes of George Scott, Dave May, Jim Colburn, Don Money and Clyde Wright.

DETROIT: Tigers ready to pull housecleaning ala Cubs, with most all stars looking forward to pension days. Kaline, Northrup, Cash, Horton and Frehan almost names of the past.

CLEVELAND: Only noise expected out of Cleveland this year will be the umpires' supposed new methods of detecting Gaylord Perry's spitball.

American League West
OAKLAND: Near replay of last two seasons. Past Jackson, Bando, Rudi and Campaneris, A's don't look that good on paper. But when the sun gets hot in the fall, the fine mound staff will take over and Oakland should breeze.

KANSAS CITY: Royals may again well be in the thick of things entering September, but club doesn't have that many bonified sluggers to go with good pitching staff.

CHICAGO: Allen, Santo, Melton can play with any three some, when they are playing. Wood and Bahnsen should win 40 between them, but from

Foreman Vs Ali Plans Underway

LONDON (AP) — Zaire sounds an unlikely place for a world heavyweight title fight between George Foreman and Muhammad Ali. But a British company is so sure of success that it is ready to pump $3 million into it.

Hemdale Lesisure Corp. says it has put up $1.5 million in front money to ensure the fight takes place next September.

A spokesman said the firm expects the promotion to cost it an additional $1.5 million to $2 million besides the front money.

Doubts have been cast on a world title fight in Africa. There are problems over the television relay, hotels and press facilities. But if the fight comes off it could be the most lucrative sports spectacle in history.

The Hemdale group is active in movie production and distribution, music and gambling. The firm took its name from film actor David Hemmings and his partner John Daly, who founded it. Hemmings is now out of the business. Daly runs it in association with television personality David Frost.

Prospects for the fight actually getting off the ground have been blanketed in confusion since Foreman smashed Ken Norton to defeat in Venezuela last week.

But Daly himself is leading a team to Kinshasa within the next two weeks to check out television problems. Zaire is not equipped with a television ground station — essential for the fight to be beamed up to satellites for transmission around the world. "We are aware of the technological problems," said Daly. "But we are confident they can be resolved."

The fight will be shown on closed-circuit television in the United States, Canada and Britain and on home television elsewhere, Daly said. It was expected the worldwide audience would be in excess of one billion viewers.

Daly expects the fight to take place Sept. 30. It is planned to stage it at 3 a.m. African time, or 10 p.m.

EDT. He said the fight would be held at the invitation of Zaire's president, Mobutu Sese Seko.

Estimates of the total revenues that could be generated by the fight range upwards from $20 million.

By comparison, January's "Fight of the Century" between Ali and Joe Frazier in New York's Madison Square Garden grossed around $8 million.

Both Foreman and Ali "will receive a flat $5 million, with no percentages," Daly says.

JHS Golf Team Opens With Win

Jacksonville High School opened its golf season with a 161-176 verdict over North Greene at wind-swept Nichols Park Wednesday afternoon.

The Crimsons were paced by Joe Noecker's 37, followed by Ron Halland and Kim Marshall with 41's. Chip Thomson 42, John Bellatti with 46 and Steve Perkins. Only the top four counted in the teams score.

North Greene's Bob Goban was individual medalist for the meet with a three-over par 36, followed by Eric Engel 42, Mike French 46 and Bill Pruitt 52.

NEW POOL MANAGER PITTSFIELD — Lt. Gary Allen has been named by the Pittsfield Park Board as the manager of the Pittsfield Swimming Pool for this summer.

Allen is presently the athletic and recreation director at Sheppard Air Force Base where he is stationed, but will be released from the service on May 12.

Allen is a graduate of Pittsfield High School and William Jewell College. He taught and coached athletics at Winfield, Missouri High School prior to entering the service.

Application for life guards should be mailed to King Milling Company, Attention Gary Allen, Pittsfield, Illinois.

Foreman: Felt Like A Prisoner

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman, who had several brushes with the law here during his youth, says his post-fight tax problems in Venezuela made him feel like a tramp and prisoner.

He returned home early Wednesday, six days later than he intended after being detained in Caracas, Venezuela, by a tax squabble which followed his victory over Ken Norton.

"I was gangstered," Foreman told a newsman on the plane en route from New York to Houston. "For a world heavyweight champion to be treated like a tramp isn't a good feeling. For the first time in my life, I felt like a prisoner."

Despite his long ordeal and apprehension about returning to visit his ailing mother, Foreman talked graciously with newsmen on his arrival here, although offered an option to leave by a side exit by an airlines employee.

Smiling and carrying a bouquet of multi-colored roses, Foreman revealed that maybe things are starting to come up roses outside the ring as well as in.

He had to pay $241,000 in taxes before he was allowed to leave Venezuela, but Don King, who co-promoted the March 26 fight, said he will reimburse Foreman for the taxes.

With that understanding, Foreman said the $10 million bout with Muhammad Ali in September in the African nation of Zaire was still on.

"There is an understanding, so it's my understanding that the fight will be held in Africa," he said. "I'd jump out of an airplane for $5 million and then fight five Muhammad Alis."

"Right now Africa seems more likely for the fight and that is more fitting. That way I can knock him all over the jungle."

Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals tied a World Series record held by Christy Mathewson. Both allowed only 14 hits in pitching three complete games in one series.

HOUSTON: World Heavyweight Boxing Champion George Foreman gets a big hug from his mother Mrs. Nancy Foreman. Foreman was in Houston Wednesday to visit his mother who is in St. Luke's hospital for tests.

Illini-Lines

By LOREN TATE
Sports Editor
Champaign News-Gazette

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Gary Wieneke can see the sunshine glistening in the distance off fertile, green fields... but he must wade through the muddy waters to get there.

Well, not exactly muddy. The UI track team tied for second in the Big Ten Indoor and figures to improve its performances in outdoor competition beginning next weekend.

But Wieneke, who moves up to head coach upon Bob Wright's retirement at the conclusion of the outdoor season, has more than one headache right now. Wieneke works with the distance runners and his prize rookie, Craig Virgin, winner of the Big 10 cross-country title last fall, is far behind in his training and may not be able to return to form due to bursitis of the left foot. Nor can Virgin be redshirted (to save this year of eligibility) since the freshman year counts regardless.

So if the likelihood of Illinois catching Indiana in the Big 10 Outdoor appears dim, the longterm prospects are good. Wieneke is already filling the holes in the UI lineup with blue-chip personnel and has been advised by athletic director Cecil Coleman that he will have the full complement of scholarships permitted by the NCAA — six — effective immediately.

"This is the thing we have always hoped for — equality," said Wieneke. "The NCAA limit for people on scholarship has been set at 23. I can remember recently when Texas had more than 50 trackmen on scholarship. There have been other comparable examples. We have never had as many people as Indiana, for instance."

"Now we're looking into the future when no one can give more the six per year or more than 23 altogether. It's going to come down to who recruits most intelligently, and coaching will be a real factor. That kind of throws it in my lap, I guess. The pressure is on to produce."

Wieneke's only area of "additional help" could come from football since grid coach Bob Blackman is on the constant lookout for halfbacks with speed. Sophomore Bruce Beaman, who qualified for the NCAA Indoor 60 as a freshman, has shaken off a strained hamstring and is now devoting his full attention to the 100 and 220 after switching back to football last spring. A year from now, Beaman will be supported by Long Island's Jim Tate, presently competing in spring football, and incoming Kentuckian Virgil Carter.

The 5-9, 170-pound Carter ran a 9.6 hundred as a sophomore, was clocked in a 7-flat 70 indoors as a junior before an injury cost him the outdoor season. He is now setting his sights on the Kentucky sprint title.

If Illinois can at long last neutralize opponents in the sprints, team strength in other areas should shove the Illini over the top. No one in the league has a better half-mile than senior Dave Kaemerer, a tougher miler than junior Mike Durkin, a springer combination triple-long jump performer than freshman Charlton Ehizuelen or a more powerful weightman than junior Mike Baietto.

Meanwhile, Wieneke and Wright are busy striving to maintain this balanced strength through recruiting. State cross-country champ Dave Walters of Lincoln-Way and mile champ Bill Fritz of Glenbard West have already signed, and the Illini are "in tight" with three superstars: Charles White (880) of Thornton, Ron Sterenberg (hurdles) of LaGrange and Tim Smith (440) of St. Ignace. One of the UI's most urgent needs right now is a quarter-miler and it is comforting to know that the fleet Smith is the brother of former Illini sprinter Al Smith.

On top of all these prospects, one of the nation's top half-dozen freshman pole vaulters a year ago — Urbana's Doug Laz at Iowa State — is transferring back to his home town after the spring semester to ultimately fill another Illini problem position.

COVERED BY INSURANCE CHICAGO (AP) — The National Football League Players Association, striving for a new contract with club owners, now has its members covered by an interim insurance program.

The NFL owners discontinued insurance coverage of players and their families on March 31.

Ed Garvey, Association director, said Wednesday a contract was signed with International Administrators, Inc., of Chicago, providing Blue Cross comprehensive coverage with a major medical maximum to $250,000.

TRY THE CLASSIFIEDS

Santo Sparkles In Chisox Win

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ron Santo slammed a single and double in two trips, and Terry Forster and Bugs Moran each hurled two scoreless innings Wednesday to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates in the final spring exhibition game for both clubs.

Ken Brett, who started and went seven innings for Pittsburgh, was the loser. He fell behind in the second inning when the Sox rallied for two runs.

Santo and Carlos May singled and both scored on a double by rookie shortstop Bucky Dent in the second. Chicago's final run came in the fifth. Buddy Bradford singled, stole second and tallied on Tony Muser's single.

The Pirates scored their runs in the third off Rich Gossage. Rennie Stennett walked with two out and scored on Richie Hebner's double.

Ivory Accepts

Spot At Eastern

CHARLESTON, Ill. — Donald Ivory, head football coach at Kansas City Central High School, has accepted the position of defensive line coach at Eastern Illinois University, effective immediately.

Ivory, 32, will replace Jessie James, who resigned last month to accept a similar position at Central Michigan University.

The new assistant just completed his first year as head coach at Central, guiding the Missouri school to a 7-2-1 record in the Kansas City Interscholastic League. For the previous three seasons he was a defensive coach.

"We feel very fortunate to acquire Don on our staff. He has the qualities we are looking for — enthusiastic, loyal, dedicated, and, above all, he knows football," said head coach Jack Dean.

With the addition of Ivory to the staff, Dean also announced new coaching assignments for spring drills.

Bernie Ricono will become the defensive coordinator. Graduate assistants John Wrenn and Steve Carson will work with the secondary and defensive end-linebackers, respectively.

Val McPeak will continue to coach the offensive line while Dean will handle the offensive backs. Student coaches who will assist this spring are Mike Shanahan, quarterbacks; Mark O'Donnell, receivers; Randy Hargraves, offensive line; and Roger Grossnickle, defensive line.

When the Dodgers played in Brooklyn their only World Series victory came against the Yankees in 1955. But as Brooklynites, the Dodgers lost in their eight other Series appearances.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

Edson Gould is an elder statesman among securities analysts, a forecaster who has made some notably accurate estimates and whose word sometimes is taken as gospel. He is also considered a bear.

Gould, 72, has been dour in his outlook since the mid-1960s, when he suggested an end had come to a bull market that pushed the Dow Jones industrial average from 92.69 points in 1942 to more than 1,000 in 1966.

Since then the average has never substantially or for any length of time exceeded that figure. It dipped as low as 631 in 1970 and rose to 1,067 early in 1973, before descending to its present range of 840 to 850 points.

Gould maintains it will break out of that range, however, and in both directions. After a decided drop, perhaps to under 700 points late this year or very early in 1975, he foresees the beginning of a major bull market.

The bull's first steps will be a bit shaky, in Gould's view. He believes there might be a turnaround, but not a very bad one, in 1976. Then he expects the ascent to resume in 1977 and 1978 and to erupt to 3,000 to 5,000 points in the 1980s.

Assuring an incredulous listener that such a jump wasn't unprecedented, Gould recalled the post-World War II advance, which was even larger in percentage, and an earlier leap that brought the average from 40.52 in 1932 to 195 in 1937.

But before those jagged graph lines pierce the financial stratosphere, "we're going to go through a hell of a lot of grief," says Gould, referring to his expectations of a decline this coming winter.

Why a decline? Gould explains that every major move in the market has three stages. When it rises it does so in steps, he insists. And when it falls it usually trips three times. It has already happened twice.

In February 1966 the Dow reached 1,001 points," Gould relates, retrieving figures easily from a data bank mind.

"In October 1966 it fell to 735. In December 1968 it rose to 994. In May 1970 it fell to 627. In January 1973 it reached 1,067. And now it's getting down for the third time."

While believing in the three-step theory, Gould has enough battle scars to be wary of a possible fourth. By that time, though, even the most obstinate will be shaken out of the market. There'll be no more sellers.

"Thus, rather than regarding the near-term outlook for declining prices with worry, fear and trembling, the investor should welcome it," he related in "Findings & Forecasts," a publication he writes for Anametrics, Inc.

Gould's rationale for an advance is compounded of many factors. There are the numbers and the tracings of the graphs, which all technicians examine for signs and signals. There is mass psychology, which Gould feels the market reflects.

He believes no market can become bullish unless international monetary affairs are sound. The worst market fears, he declares, are war and a shaky monetary structure.

He deprecates the welfare ethic but believes the country soon will show a renewed appreciation of the work ethic. "We've got a soft generation," he maintains. "Welfare is the opposite of free enterprise."

Hughes, Vesco Assume Key Roles In Bahamian Economy

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — Howard Hughes and Robert Vesco, two controversial expatriate American financial wizards, are assuming key roles in the economic development of the world's second youngest nation.

Hughes moved into Freeport in December after brief stays in Nicaragua, Canada and London. He had previously spent about two years in a hotel on Paradise Island, near Nassau.

Vesco commutes between Nassau and Costa Rica. He successfully fought extradition to the United States last year. The United States wanted him for, among other things, charges accusing him of trying to head off an investigation into his financial dealings with a secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Hughes and Vesco are major factors in the Bahamian economy, which despite inflation and other ills is enjoying a healthy upsurge. Most of the information about them from political and financial sources indicates both are active participants in attempting to bring the islands more tourists, foreign investment and industrial development.

Hughes, who has not been seen in public for 17 years, set himself up in a 13th-floor penthouse suite of the Xanadu Princess Hotel, then promptly paid $12 million for the hotel and its surrounding villas, pool, tennis courts and marina.

He and his personal staff have blocked off the condominium-type building's top two floors, and American, European and Canadian tourists staying in the other 11 floors talk excitedly about "the man upstairs."

Hughes is still as inaccessible as ever, however. So far as can be determined, no hotel employees have ever seen him.

Vesco, 38, began exerting a strong financial influence in the Bahamas soon after he came under fire from officials in a number of countries for his dealings in Investors Overseas Services, a multinational mutual fund organization.

The Detroit-born financier reportedly has investments totaling more than $50 million in this country of 700 islands stretching from just off the Florida coast to Haiti.

Working through his Bahamas Commonwealth Bank, he is reported to hold interests in car dealerships, hotels, restaurants, retail stores and other smaller operations.

Shell egg futures gained up to 200 points on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, while live hog futures gained up to $1.30 per hundredweight and pork bellies moved up as much as 150 points. Cattle futures were 40 cents per hundredweight lower to 75 cents higher.

At the close on the CBOT, wheat was up 20 cents a bushel, May 4.17 1/2; corn was 9 1/2 to 10 higher, May 2.68; oats rose 6 cents, May 1.21; and soybeans were up 6 1/2 to 12 cents, May 5.87.

Defective Products Cost Firms Billions Annually

CHICAGO (UPI) — Personal injury and property damage suits resulting from defective products cost American companies $100 billion a year through legal verdicts and out-of-court settlements, a gathering of industrial engineers and planners was told Tuesday.

Dr. S. W. Herwald, vice president for engineering and development of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, said there was a growing concern in the United States about the integrity of products.

Coupled with this is the need for planners to find ways to utilize what now are regarded as waste materials, he said.

"We have the dubious distinction of being a 'convenience,' 'worksaver,' 'throwaway,' society. This has reached such an extent that it is helping destroy the very quality of life it is seeking to preserve," Herwald said.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A technical rally propelled the stock market to its best gain in nearly a month Wednesday, but trading remained slack.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 11 1/2 to 858.03. That was its strongest day since March 5, when it rose more than 19 points at the end of the Arab oil embargo approached.

Gainers outstripped losers by about 4 to 3 in a turnover of 11.50 million shares on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers attributed the upturn primarily to bargain-hunting after the declines that had swept through the market over the past week.

They noted there was little news to ease the worries that have been plaguing the market, from inflation and high interest rates to Watergate.

Some of Wednesday's biggest gains showed up in blue-chip and glamour issues.

Among the blue chips, DuPont, up 3 1/2 at 171 1/2, and Eastman Kodak, up 3 1/2 at 110, each contributed about 2 points to the rise in the Dow.

In the glamour sector, IBM climbed 5 1/4 to 239 1/4 and Xerox was up 3 1/4 at 116 1/4.

Westinghouse Electric, target of a $75-million suit by American Electric Power, slipped 3 1/4 to 19 1/4 at the top of the Big Board's most-active list.

Standard Oil of Indiana was ahead a point at 94. The company announced plans for a $153 million ocean drilling program.

Golds were weak in profit-taking, but other metals gained broadly.

Flying Tiger warrants, down 3 1/4 at 8 1/4, were the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex market-value index rose .23 to 96.55. The NYSE's composite index of close to 1,500 common stocks added .46 to 50.27.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite was up .10 at 92.13.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I've divorced and remarried. And I have custody of my child from the first marriage. My new spouse is helping to support the child. I'm determining whether or not I can claim the child as a dependent, do I count amounts furnished by my present spouse as support furnished by me?
A. Yes. A divorced parent with custody who remarries is now allowed to consider support provided by the new spouse in determining who contributed over half the support for the child.

Q. My son spent his earnings from a summer job to buy a car. Does this amount count toward support furnished by him when I figure out whether or not I can claim him as a dependent?
A. No. Amounts spent to purchase a car do not count toward total support.

Q. I was out sick two months last year, but my employer paid me sick pay. The sick pay is reported on my W-2 form. Do I still have to use my form to compute my sick pay?
A. No. If you have sick pay and your W-2 form shows the amount, you do not have to fill out a Form 2440 with your return. Just enter the sick pay amount on your Form 1040 and attach the W-2 form to your return.

Q. How do I compute my sales tax deduction?
A. You may deduct the actual sales tax you paid on purchases, based on your records, or you can use the tables in your tax forms package.

Q. If you use the sales tax tables to determine your deduction, you may add to the amount shown in the tables the sales tax paid on the purchase of an automobile, airplane, boat, mobilehome and materials you used to build a new home.

Q. Can every individual participate in the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Check-off?
A. Yes. Every individual, other than a nonresident alien, may participate if he has a tax liability of one dollar or more. If you want to participate, designate $1 ($2 if married and filing jointly) by checking off the appropriate box on your tax return. Participation in the check-off will not increase your tax or reduce any refund you may have coming.

Q. Are scholarships taxable?
A. If you receive a scholarship or fellowship grant, you may exclude the entire amount from your income if you are a degree candidate. If you are not a degree candidate, you may still exclude up to $300 times the number of months for which you receive amounts under the grant during the tax year. The exclusion for a non-degree candidate is limited to 36 months during his lifetime.

Q. Payments under a grant are taxable if made to compensate you for the past, present or future services or to allow you to pursue studies or research primarily for the benefit of the person who granted the scholarship. For more details, see IRS Publication 520, "Tax Information for American Scholars in the U.S. and Abroad." It's available free from your IRS office.

Q. What kinds of losses are deductible as casualties?
A. Casualty losses include damage from a hurricane, tornado, flood, storm, fire or accident, damage to the taxpayer's auto from an automobile accident not caused by the willful act or willful negligence of the taxpayer, damage from a mine cave-in or sonic boom and certain losses from smog or vandalism.

Q. Losses not deductible as casualties include breakage of china or glassware through handling or by a family pet, residential property damage to trees and shrubs as a result of disease, damage from pre- gressive deterioration or moths or termites, expenses incident to a casualty, such as rent for temporary quarters, losses from reduction in value caused by a nearby disaster and the loss of future profits.

Home Gardener

The Home Gardener

Plants, too, need to be nourished

By SHEILA and ALLAN SWENSON
Plants, like people, need balanced diets. You feed plants by feeding the soil. A shortage of one basic element can lead to deficiencies in plant growth.

Balanced fertilizers are necessary to put in the health-giving plant foods for the types you want to grow: vegetables, flowers, shrubs or trees. By law, fertilizer must show the analysis, the amount of each basic element per bag.

Grass, leafy plants and crops need more nitrogen. Too much of this element, however, encourages vegetable growth when you grow fruit or root crops.

Each bag lists N-P-K amounts. N means nitrogen for leafy growth. P means phosphorus which stimulates flowering, fruit set and seed production. K means potash or potassium which encourages roots and seed growth.

Broadcasting fertilizer before turning soil under is useful. It spreads nutrients through the soil so plants get it as roots grow down and spread out.

At transplanting time, a slurry of manure or weak fertilizer starter solution in the hole before setting the plant gives them a boost and helps compensate for transplanting shock. During the growing season, side dressing, a handful or more fertilizer around plants, depending on size, keeps them growing well.

For a handy gardening guide, the Swenson's Practical Book of Organic Gardening, send name, address and 25¢ with check or money order for $1.25 (plus 25¢ postage and handling) to: Organic Gardening Book, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Slow-release fertilizers, some in pelleted form with less dust, others in granules to release nutrients over a long period, are excellent. One application can feed plants all season.

Soluble fertilizer is available if you want to try foliar feeding. Recent advances have yielded improved fertilizers. Individual bag labels provide amounts required for that brand and type, by row and area size. Be aware, enough is enough. Too much fertilizer can and will burn leaves and injure tiny roots if applied improperly.

Row and plant spacing also governs how quickly plants use up available nutrients. Remember, when harvest is over, plants have taken out their feed needs. You must replace nutrients for next year's crops.

Use fertilizer wisely to start and sustain the bountiful yields you expect from your garden.

Expo '74 Lacks Single Exhibit By National Conservation Group

By JOHN KUGLIN
Associated Press Writer

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Expo '74, billed as the World's Environmental Fair, lacks a single exhibit by a national conservation group.

Some ecologists say the cost would be prohibitive. Others cite environmental reasons or complain about its commercialism.

Expo opens on May 4 with 11 nations, three states, two Canadian provinces, eight industries and the United States Bureau of Reclamation among the 43 exhibitors.

Exhibits will be built around the theme: "Towards tomorrow's fresh new environment." The fair, sanctioned by the Bureau of International Expositions, will be held on a 100-acre site along the Spokane River.

Spokesmen for Friends of the Earth say they can't afford the $750,000 Expo officials told them an exhibit would cost. Space alone, without interior work, costs $20 a square foot, Expo officials say.

"No environmental group can come up with that kind of money," said Friends' official Natalie Roberts in San Francisco. "There's a good reason why the Sierra Club isn't exhibiting at Expo," said Dr. Thatcher Hubbard of the Spokane chapter. "Most of the environmental groups are opposed to Expo. We call it ecophony."

"This is a trade fair put on by a bunch of merchants to increase profits. It's a commercial enterprise and we abhor it," he said.

Expo General Manager Petr Spurney said environmental groups were welcome to exhibit, "but we can't subsidize them."

"The regulations are very specific. We can't treat Russia one way and someone else another way," Spurney said. The Spokane Chapter of Zero Population Growth is distributing "Exposition '74" bumper stickers.

Ernest McGoran, president of the chapter, said population growth could lead to a "substantial degradation of the quality of life."

An estimated five million people are expected to visit Expo '74 in this city of 180,000, fair officials say.

"Sure we can be criticized for bringing all these people here, but look at all the trees we have planted, trees generating fresh oxygen," Expo's Spurney said.

Runs First Adoption Agency Solely For Black Infants

By MARY TOBIN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Jane Edwards modestly says she guesses she was "blessed with a great deal of energy." She needs it.

Executive director of Spence-Chapin Adoption Service since 1967, Mrs. Edwards oversees and approves every case in the files of one of the country's largest adoption agencies.

Then there are meetings with government agencies, boards of directors, professional groups and work with the Community Council of New York and the Child Welfare League, who cooperated with her in pioneering the Indian Adoption Project in our southwestern states.

The accomplishment that gives this attractive, dynamic black woman the most satisfaction however, is the Harlem-Dowling Children's Service, established by her in 1969 through Spence-Chapin to serve New York's black Harlem community.

"Spence-Chapin has always accepted a great number of black babies," Mrs. Edwards said. "But the more I got into this thing, the more I became convinced that we were only making a dent in the problem; large numbers of healthy black babies were being left in hospitals to await homes or shelters and their unwed mothers were going without counseling or care."

Unwanted "White" Agency

Through friends in the black community, Mrs. Edwards interviewed young pregnant women and found they were reluctant to come "downtown to the white man's agency."

"They would say to me 'how do you know how I feel, how can you understand my problems?'" Mrs. Edwards said. "Well I did understand their problems, and I was ashamed that I was unable to reach them. I investigated and found that although there are Catholic agencies, Jewish agencies and white Protestant agencies, all of whom care for black babies, there was no agency devoted solely to them."

Mrs. Edwards envisioned that the only way to reach these neglected mothers and babies was to come to them. With the approval of the Spence-Chapin board of directors under its president Mrs. Alice Hall Dowling, Mrs. Edwards went into Harlem and Bedford-Stuyvesant to begin spadework for her project.

"We had to convince black leaders that this was truly a black project for their community," Mrs. Edwards said. "They have become very cynical about white agencies coming in with lots of money and schemes that bring very little concrete benefit to them. We told them that although initial funding would come from Spence-Chapin and from Foundations, the agency would become an independent community center as soon as possible." (Harlem-Dowling will become completely independent by the end of 1974).

Drugs a Problem

One of the problems confronting counselors at Harlem-Dowling is drugs. A large percentage of the unwed mothers who come to the center are drug addicts. "If a mother is trying to rehabilitate herself and wants to keep her baby, we try to help her do so," Mrs. Edwards said.

"We keep the baby at the home or in foster care indefinitely. There are cases where the mother is only 13 or 14 years old and wants to finish school or take training to enable her to support her child. We help counsel her through all of this."

To help drug addicted mothers, the clinic employs two paraprofessionals who are former drug addicts and who do counseling.

Now that Harlem-Dowling is on its own under its competent black director, Joseph P. Smith, Mrs. Edwards has undertaken the establishment of an early childhood development school, for children with organic or emotional problems that can cause developmental lags and learning disabilities. The school will operate under Spence-Chapin and will be for children from 2 to 6 years.

Big Job

"You know, as the need decreases in one area of social service, another pressing need comes up," Mrs. Edwards said, referring to a decrease in the number of illegitimate babies born. "People active in child mental health say that early intervention with the many children born with disabilities is essential. We plan to work with parents as well as children, and suit the program to each child's individual needs."

A big job?

"Well, I get weary sometimes thinking about it, but then I think how fast the five years went that I worked on Harlem-Dowling and the satisfaction I got when the center was operating, and I get a new burst of energy."

Streeter Club Formed At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — The Illinois Valley Streeter Association organized Sunday evening at the home of Don Matthews. Eleven persons were present.

The main purpose of the meeting was to decide on a name for the club. It was voted to be called "Illinois Valley Streeter Association." The club deals with altered street cars.

The following officers were elected: President, Don Matthews; Roodhouse; vice president, Jim Scharfenberg; Greenfield; secretary and treasurer, Walt Gillespie, Greenfield.

Each member paid a $10 membership fee. There is a $2 monthly fee. Plans were discussed for a building which could be used as a permanent meeting place.

The next meeting will be held 8 p.m. April 9 at the same place as Sunday. Plans for an outing for members and their families will be discussed. All interested persons are invited.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Matthews.

Members of the new club include: Richard Schaefer, Walt Gillespie and Jim Scharfenberg, all of Greenfield; Jerry Kelly, Gene Todd, and Wilbur Wilenburgh, all of Carrollton; Don Matthews, Allen Blake, Joe Lawson and Norman Strang, all of Roodhouse; and Jim Wear of Hillview.

Women Making Steady Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — to encourage large families," said Miss Karl. Though she modestly refuses to take any credit for the changes, Elfriede Karl reports steady improvement in the status of women in Austria, where she has been Secretary of State for Family Policy and Women's Rights since 1971.

"The whole government and the Social Democratic party have worked toward this end," said Miss Karl, here from Vienna to participate in an international forum of the United Nations on "The Role of Women in Population and Development."

Thanks to recent legislation, starting Jan. 1, 1975, abortions will be permitted in Austria under regulations similar to those in the United States.

"Abortion is not desired, either from a sociological view or from the view of the woman herself," explained the slim brunette Cabinet member, "but the option must remain open. Our emphasis is on the positive — contraception."

Since Austria has no population surplus at present, she adds, family planning is looked at from the standpoint of the individual, rather than as a means of controlling population.

Women — married or single — receive free medical attention during pregnancy, get a year's sabbatical leave from their job after giving birth and there are favorable tax laws and government cash allowances for families with children.

Barbershop's Chorus Has Family Potluck

The Jacksonville Barbershop's Fairest Wheelers Chorus held a family night meeting at the Central Christian church Monday, April 1st.

After a 6:30 potluck supper, the Fairest Wheelers, their wives and children viewed slides of the Barton Stone Christian Home as presented by Harold Patterson. Entertainment at the meeting was provided by the Ambassador Quartet of Jacksonville who sang a number of Gospel numbers. The Fairest Wheelers Chorus and quartet, the Four Cylinder Four, also entertained with several selections.

Games and other recreational events were held following the program. The next meeting will be a guest night Monday, April 8, at the Grace United Methodist church located on West Morgan and Church street. Jacksonville and area men who like to sing are invited to attend the meeting and learn about the barbershop group.

Looking trim and younger than her 40 years in tan pants and brown turtleneck sweater, Miss Karl spoke a creditable English but preferred to talk mostly in German through an interpreter.

Though Austria has no form of address corresponding exactly with the Ms. in use here, Miss Karl, who is not married, explained that women over 20 are increasingly being addressed as Frau rather than Fraulein, even though they are single.

New Hampshire was part of the Massachusetts Bay Colony from 1641 to 1679.

Separate women's groups in Austrian political parties and trade unions exert strong influence, but outside of these, women's organizations play no significant role in the country's politics, said Miss Karl, who comes from a politically active family and was chairman of the trade union youth movement in her native Salzburg.

Having succeeded in achieving abortion reforms, Austrian women are now demanding modernization of laws pertaining to the family, such as the legal relationship between children and parents and between husband and wife. Under present laws a man can prohibit his wife from working and the husband has authority over the children.

"Some of the laws date back to 1811 and do not correspond to the structure of today's society," Miss Karl noted. "The laws are in the

Earthquake, Twisters Shake State Wednesday

By The Associated Press

Twisters slashed across Illinois Wednesday, killing two men, and an earthquake shook the state from Rockford to Carbondale.

A tornado smashed down homes, power lines and trees in Decatur, leaving one dead and 18 injured. Roofs were torn from more buildings and windows shattered.

Jacksonville and Morgan County authorities received a number of calls concerning the quake, but no damage was reported.

"The thing (twister) sounded like, maybe, 50 trucks carrying a load," Arvis Walter, 57, a night watchman, said. "I was standing by the window when it hit. I had just told my wife, Stella Jane, it looked like we were going to get a summer rain."

Mary Marshall, a Decatur housewife, said she was having coffee when the twister struck "and we saw trees blowing past our window." She and her daughter-in-law took shelter in a bedroom as the tornado ripped the roof from her home and collapsed the walls.

"It's a wonder we weren't killed," she said.

Police said the twister roared six miles from nearby Harristown to the north side of Decatur in 20 minutes, damaging or demolishing 150 homes. Power and telephone service to three areas of the city was cut.

The twister hit about 2:30 p.m. Just after 6 p.m., much of the state was jarred by a rolling, 20-second quake that smashed dishes, rattled windows and sent furniture weaving around rooms. No serious damage was reported.

St. Louis University reported the quake, which had its epicenter 130 miles east of St. Louis, was measured at 4.5 on the Richter scale. The quake was felt from Rockford near the Wisconsin line to Carbondale in the south and in parts of Indiana.

"My word!" a caller to The Associated Press from Effingham said. "The bed was weaving all over the room."

Decatur officials said at least 24 homes were demolished as the twister ripped an 80-yard path across the north and west sides of the city.

Redvers Morris, 71, of rural Decatur was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital in Decatur, a hospital spokesman said.

The Champaign County coroner's office confirmed that Lonnie Huffman, 29, of Tolono was killed when a twister hit his mobile home.

The twisters were spawned in rain, hail and high winds that lashed the state.

In Macon County, the tornado first touched down in the small community of Harristown, roared across four miles of farmland and struck a housing development on the west side of the city. It then skipped across to two neighborhoods on the north side.

Hospital officials said 13 persons were treated for injuries from the tornado. Fleta Morris, widow of the fatality victim was reported in critical condition.

City officials said at least 24 homes were demolished and the damage would run into the millions of dollars.

Nine farms were damaged and three homes destroyed by a twister that struck the McLean County community of Anchor.

Funnel clouds and twisters were reported near Morris and Flanagan in the central part of the state, Bartlett in the north and Evanston in the Chicago suburbs.

Big nuggets of hail pounded the western suburbs of Chicago and driving rains flooded highways and underpasses.

Two Injured In Accident Wednesday

Two persons were injured as the result of an accident on Route 104 near the Anderson Clayton plant about 2 p.m. Wednesday, according to state police.

Amy B. Ator, 80, rural Pleasant Hill, was treated and released from Passavant Hospital; she was taken there by state troopers. The driver of the other car, Lynn R. Turner, 26, Rural Route 1, complained of slight injury but did not seek immediate medical attention.

The Ator woman was ticketed for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. Her car had to be towed from the scene.

State police estimated damage at $250 to the Turner car and $300 to the Ator car.

Three Fined, One Jail Term In Court Cases

Three defendants paid fines and a fourth was ordered to spend seven days in jail during court action Wednesday afternoon.

Diane J. Dennis, 22, of 210½ South Mauvaisterre had her probation revoked and was ordered to spend seven days in jail. She was taken to the Sangamon county jail to serve the sentence and given credit for two days spent there. Probation Officer Robert Wallace filed a petition for revocation of the probation after her conviction of DUI and no valid driver's license.

Richard Teaney, Dorothy Teaney, Stanley Evans, Carl Evans, Tom Steelman, Robert A. Brown, Linda Brown and Donnie Savage.

Ambulance Operators Consider Organizing

Ambulance operators from Morgan and seven surrounding counties moved last night to form a professional organization to promote training programs, foster cooperation among the services and hospital personnel, and set up a central communications network.

Don Karcher, regional emergency medical services coordinator for the state's trauma care program, called the meeting and outlined goals he thought the group could accomplish.

Karcher, who would not be a member of the group but would serve as an adviser, outlined the provisions of the National Medical Emergency Services Act which provides money for the establishment and expansion of emergency service programs.

Karcher said that a universal telephone dialing system was one of the biggest needs in the emergency medical service in the Jacksonville area. Under this plan, a person faced with an emergency—medical, fire, or one calling for police assistance—would dial 911 for help. A trained dispatcher would then get the pertinent information and send aid.

The system would operate throughout Passavant Hospital's service area.

Karcher said projects of this type was well as training programs could be financed through federal grants to the association, which would be incorporated as a not-for-profit agency. The association would be open not only to those associated with ambulance services but also to professionals associated with emergency medical care.

Other areas the association might be involved in are improving relations between ambulance technicians and the medical and nursing staffs at Passavant, peer group review of performance and a system of handling complaints from the public, and closer cooperation with local governments.

Representatives of Lowe Ambulance Co., Jacksonville Ambulance Service, and ambulance services or rescue squads from Waverly, Meredosia, Scott, Schuyler and Macoupin counties attended the meeting and formed a nominating committee.

Others will be added to the nominating committee, which will choose a slate of officers to be voted upon, as they indicate their interest in joining the association.

The group will meet again in a week or 10 days.

Last night's 90-minute session was held in the Illinois Power Co. auditorium. Twenty-two people attended the meeting.

Plans Commission Meets Wednesday

The Jacksonville Plans Commission acted on five rezoning petitions Wednesday night at their regular meeting.

Commission members unanimously approved a petition requesting rezoning from R-3 (one family dwelling) to B-2 (commercial district) for property located at 832-4 North Main, currently being operated as Barber the Florist. Ron Barber, who is lessee and contract buyer of the property owned by C. L. Blakeman, said he plans to continue his flower business and open a three-operator beauty salon in the north part of the building.

Barber presented a petition signed by a large number of his neighbors supporting his request. One neighbor, George Birdsall, told members how impressed he is with Barber's operation. Barber said he intends to remodel the existing structure and improve a large parking lot behind the business.

Barber was represented by attorney Bob Hemphill. The commission's recommendation on Barber's request will be passed on to the city council for final action; the same procedure applies to other matters handled at the meeting.

In other action, the commission voted to postpone consideration of a rezoning request from one of the commission members—Claude Lemon. Lemon is seeking rezoning from R-4 (two family dwelling) to R-5 (multiple family dwelling) for property located at 1122 West State.

The large apartment house which formerly occupied the site is being torn down. Lemon passed on the vote for postponement; he said would give adequate notice to all interested parties when he is ready to bring the matter before the commission again.

Commission members unanimously rejected a petition from Larry and Elizabeth Knight for rezoning their residence at 615 South Prairie from R-3 (residential) to B-1 (business district, local retail). Mrs. Knight wanted to open a one-operator beauty salon in one room of her house.

Discuss Operations Of Plans Commission

A large number of city officials met with members of the Jacksonville Plans Commission before the commission's regular meeting Wednesday night. They discussed what that body's function is and what its relations are with the city council. The meeting was called by Mayor Milt Hocking to try to iron out recent rezoning disputes.

City Attorney James Reilly gave some of the history of zoning and some of the considerations which must be taken into account when discussing zoning or rezoning. Essentially, he said, zoning weighs private gain against the public welfare and assigns different land uses and intensities of land use.

Reilly gave a lengthy resume of the ramifications of zoning and favored those present with some of his conclusions concerning it. First, he said, aldermen and plans commission members ought to be suspicious of any change which applies to a small parcel, especially if surrounded by other types of zoning.

Secondly, he said officials should consider the following questions when hearing the pros and cons of a rezoning request: what has changed that necessitates this; what are the trends in the whole area; are there sufficient areas already zoned for this use in another area of the city?

Reilly said ideally a citizen would find out what areas are already zoned to suit his interests and then seek property there, instead of buying the property and then asking for rezoning. Reilly said the last zoning plan for Jacksonville was adopted in 1959, and the last revision was made in it in February of 1962.

Bill Horton, 658 South Diamond, objected to the petition on the grounds the area is predominantly residential and should be kept that way. He pointed out that once the Knight property is zoned for business, a wide range of operations could be opened there with little recourse for the neighbors or the city.

A petition from Eli Bridge Company was granted unanimously. They request rezoning from R-3 (one family dwelling) to M-2 (manufacturing) for property which faces North West Street between West Dunlap and West Wolcott. The lots face Eli Bridge Company's plant, whose site is already zoned for manufacturing.

Lee Sullivan, president of the firm, said the area would be used for construction of a large building for use in connection with his firm's production of Ferris wheels, etc. Sullivan was represented by attorney William Wilson.

Commission members voted unanimously to postpone action on a petition requesting rezoning from B-4-2 (general retail business district) to B-5 (services and wholesale) for property located at 1332 West Walnut. The property is known as the WJYY Television Building.

Lee Sullivan and Harlan Williamson, who along with Wadsworth Applebee are beneficiaries of a land trust administered by Farmers State Bank and Trust Company, appeared before commission members on behalf of the petition. Sullivan said he was at a loss concerning the petition since it had been sought in order to expedite sale of the property. But Sullivan said he received a phone call Wednesday afternoon and was told the deal could not go through. In light of this, he and Williamson asked for the postponement.

Sullivan said the license of the closed-down television station will become defunct April 22, according to a Federal Communications Commission ruling. He said RCA, in the absence of any buyer, removed and sold its equipment at the station.

A large number of city officials attended the meeting.

Commission Chairman Bill Chipman said his group would probably be coming to the council soon seeking money to finance studies for, and development of, a new master zoning plan for Jacksonville.

Chipman said he thinks the plans commission is second only to the city council in importance, "because the growth of the city goes through it." He said the commission judges each petition on the basis of whether or not it fits in with plans for the growth and development of the entire city.

Mayor Hocking disclosed at the end of the workshop-like session that the rezoning request for 1310 North Diamond would not be brought back to the plans commission or the council. The commission recommended that it be rezoned to allow construction of a children's home for the mentally retarded, which was overruled by the council recently. Aldermen also rejected a petition seeking rezoning on East College to allow operation of a neighborhood tavern.

POLICE DISPLACE SEVERAL WEDNESDAY
City police were called to 312 West Dunlap Wednesday night. They pulled several persons out of the housing project unit. The unit is now empty, said police, and they advised the visitors to leave it that way.

This unit has been repeatedly vandalized over the last couple of weeks.

WINDOWS BROKEN
Denise Moss, 121 Walnut Court, reported to city police Wednesday night someone broke some windows and damaged a screen at her unit.
